Educational activities: Type of activities: seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester: 2., 4.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Regular attendance and active participation, analysis of texts (historiographical or sources in translation in class), oral presentation of a selected topic and a short written assignment (essay) Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 40% continually, 60% at the end of the course (presentation 30 and essay 30)
Learning outcomes: Students will get acquainted with basic terms and tools of history and memory in research and public discourse. The theoretical general background of how we remember (and remembered in the past) and how memory is researched, the relationship between memory and history will be discussed. Beyond theory and recent developments in interdisciplinary memory research, students will get acquainted with selected topics especially from medieval history of Slovakia and Central Europe, their memory and presence in academic and public discourse in past and present. Students will be encouraged to bring in and discuss themes not only from medieval past and medievalisms but more recent areas of memory research related to Central Europe according to their interests. They will learn to critically read, discuss and analyze them; the emphasis will be put on argumentation and presentation in discussion and in written form.
Class syllabus: Introduction. History and memory, memory research. How people and societies remember. History of memory. Individual and collective memory, social memory, cultural memory. Politics of memory. Memory and identity. Memory in history. Focus on the Middle Ages. Oral and written. Memory and commemoration. Art of memory. Memory aids, mnemotechnics, rhetorics. Media of Memory. Developments in history. Places, figures, events. Saints, dynasties and other objects of memory. Narratives of history and memory. Central Europe, regions and memory.
