Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 1.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: The assessment of the course is divided into two phases, the first is the assessment of classroom activity, continuous preparation, active participation in discussions, preparation of sub-assignments (60 points). During the semester, the student will prepare and publicly present an essay on the assigned topic, which will be graded between 0 and 40 points. The total grade is calculated by summation. A grade of A requires at least 91 points, a grade of B requires at least 81 points, a grade of C requires at least 73 points, a grade of D requires at least 66 points, and a grade of E requires at least 60 points. The grade is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, satisfactory - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, inadequate - extra work required) A - excellent performance, the student has acquired knowledge at the required level and to a sufficient extent, can critically evaluate it, combines previously acquired knowledge with new knowledge, systematises it, has produced an essay at the required level, the output meets all the specified criteria;

B - excellent performance, the student has acquired the knowledge at the required level with slight deviations, critical thinking is at a high level but with minor deficiencies in systematising the knowledge, has created an essay with minor deficiencies, which, however, do not prevent its understanding;

C - good performance, the student has mastered the required knowledge at an average level, has produced an essay with more significant deficiencies;

D - acceptable performance, the student has mastered and acquired knowledge of the subject area at a reduced level, critical thinking is significantly weakened, there is no linking of what has been learned, the essay has significant deficiencies, the acquired knowledge is not transferred into it to a sufficient extent.

E - Minimally acceptable performance, student has acquired knowledge at a very low level, critical thinking is failing, a more developed level of synthesis and generalisation is absent, the essay has significant deficiencies that do not represent the knowledge learnt in the subject;

Fx - unacceptable performance, the student has not met the requirements set by the teacher during the semester.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes:

The student will gain insight into the transformations of musical-aesthetic thinking. Critical reading, collaborative analysis and discussion of selected texts by philosophers, thinkers, composers and theorists is an important part of the course. The course includes attendance at concerts with their subsequent reflection and discussions on selected topics with personalities of Slovak musical culture.

Transferable competences:

The course aims to equip students with the competence to independently formulate and justify their own aesthetic judgements about musical works and musical culture in written and verbal form.

Class syllabus:

Course outcomes of subject (content):

A basic overview of musical-aesthetic views from antiquity to the present, supplemented by excerpts and discussion of major paradigm-shifting controversies (Monteverdi vs. Artusi, Scheibe vs. Bach), or selections from texts from seminal works (Plato: The State, Hanslick: On the Musical Beautiful, etc.). Musical aesthetics in the system of musical science, relation to general aesthetics, basic categories of musical aesthetic and musical philosophical thought: expression, language, form, content, value, work, style. Creation, perception, and perception, knowledge, understanding. Theories of art and culture, contemporary music-aesthetic concepts and pop culture. The place and importance of aesthetics in music education.

Educational activities: Type of activities: lecture Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Type, volume, methods and workload of the student - additional information Type of activities, scope (number of hours) and methods of educational activities: Scope, type/method of teaching and organisational form Form of teaching : lecture, combined form (primarily face-to-face) Recommended scope of teaching (in hours): Weekly :2 Over the study period: 22 hours Student workload: 22 hours of teaching, 15 hours for continuous assessment, 23 hours for final assessment, 60 hours in total Educational methods: monological (lecture), discussion of the material covered, problem-solving exercises, small group work, presentations combined with discussion, self-study of literature
Recommended semester: 2.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: The assessment of the course is divided into two phases, the first is the assessment of classroom activity, continuous preparation, active participation in discussions, preparation of sub-assignments (60 points). During the semester, the student will prepare and publicly present an essay on the assigned topic, which will be graded between 0 and 40 points. The total grade is calculated by summation. A grade of A requires at least 91 points, a grade of B requires at least 81 points, a grade of C requires at least 73 points, a grade of D requires at least 66 points, and a grade of E requires at least 60 points. The grade is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, satisfactory - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, inadequate - extra work required) A - excellent performance, the student has acquired knowledge at the required level and to a sufficient extent, can critically evaluate it, combines previously acquired knowledge with new knowledge, systematises it, has produced an essay at the required level, the output meets all the specified criteria;

B - excellent performance, the student has acquired the knowledge at the required level with slight deviations, critical thinking is at a high level but with minor deficiencies in systematising the knowledge, has created an essay with minor deficiencies, which, however, do not prevent its understanding;

C - good performance, the student has mastered the required knowledge at an average level, has produced an essay with more significant deficiencies;

D - acceptable performance, the student has mastered and acquired knowledge of the subject area at a reduced level, critical thinking is significantly weakened, there is no linking of what has been learned, the essay has significant deficiencies, the acquired knowledge is not transferred into it to a sufficient extent.

E - Minimally acceptable performance, student has acquired knowledge at a very low level, critical thinking is failing, a more developed level of synthesis and generalisation is absent, the essay has significant deficiencies that do not represent the knowledge learnt in the subject;

Fx - unacceptable performance, the student has not met the requirements set by the teacher during the semester.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes:

The student will gain insight into the transformations of musical-aesthetic thinking. Critical reading, collaborative analysis and discussion of selected texts by philosophers, thinkers, composers and theorists is an important part of the course. The course includes attendance at concerts with their subsequent reflection and discussions on selected topics with personalities of Slovak musical culture.

Transferable competences:

The course aims to equip students with the competence to independently formulate and justify their own aesthetic judgements about musical works and musical culture in written and verbal form.

Class syllabus:

Course outcomes of subject (content):

A basic overview of musical-aesthetic views from antiquity to the present, supplemented by excerpts and discussion of major paradigm-shifting controversies (Monteverdi vs. Artusi, Scheibe vs. Bach), or selections from texts from seminal works (Plato: The State, Hanslick: On the Musical Beautiful, etc.). Musical aesthetics in the system of musical science, relation to general aesthetics, basic categories of musical aesthetic and musical philosophical thought: expression, language, form, content, value, work, style. Creation, perception, and perception, knowledge, understanding. Theories of art and culture, contemporary music-aesthetic concepts and pop culture. The place and importance of aesthetics in music education.

He also develops his individual instrumental playing skills. In pedagogical work, he is able to apply this acquired knowledge in collective work with pupils, or in extracurricular activities when leading various ensembles.

Class syllabus:

Course outcomes of subject (content):

The subject Chamber Playing is a subject of professional and artistic-pedagogical training, the purpose of which is to acquire knowledge and experience in practical playing in chamber ensembles from duos to sextets and to learn about specific musical literature for these ensembles. The student is guided toward the ability to participate in the construction of the musical whole and to share responsibility for the final shape of the musical work.

Recommended literature:

Recommended readings:

Musical literature - the specific repertoire depends on the instrumental or vocal-instrumental cast of the ensemble and also on the individual maturity of the ensemble members, these attributes will be considered by the teacher of the subject.

Methodology for managing and coordinating the teaching process - the basic pillars of successful classroom management - planning, creating a productive classroom climate and promoting teamwork in the classroom, arranging the conditions of the learning space, guiding the learning activities of pupils/students, guiding the tasks of pupils/students related to the running of the classroom, activities to maintain discipline in the classroom, activities to prevent problematic behaviour, classroom rules. Classroom management and the class teacher in the context of legislation - qualifications for classroom management, rights and responsibilities of the class teacher. Roles and activities of the class teacher. Competencies and skills of the class teacher. Personality requirements of a class teacher. Pedagogical documentation of the classroom. Plan, organization and management of classroom lessons and classroom activities. Problem behaviours and baseline documents. The class teacher and educational measures. Communication and cooperation of class teachers with school management, teaching staff, professional staff, with legal representatives of pupils/students, and with representatives of various institutions and organizations. Evaluation of classroom activities.

Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 3.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Recommended prerequisites: none
Course requirements: Course completion requirements Continuous assessment (100 points/percent): - Preparation of individual assignments (1/3): each student first prepares two of the following assignments, of which at least one is presented. If he/she does not present one of the assignments, he/she will submit it in written form. Assignment options: a) analysis of a text b) preparation of a glossary of terms and concepts in the text (5–10 words, expressions) and a draft exercise to practise the vocabulary in question c) critical evaluation of a text: setting out the soundness of the argument and treatment of the issues with appropriate explanations, suggestions for improvement and responses to the issues d) elaboration of further research and presentation for class discussion e) explanation of 3–5 cultural terms, and their relationship to British/American society, and their use in the classroom (activity suggestion) - End-of-term test (2/3): the test is based on the compulsory readings, questions include factual questions (definitions, matching) and open questions requiring interpretation of what has been read

Grading:

100 – 95% A, 94 – 89% B, 88 – 83% C, 82 – 77% D, 76 – 70% E, 69% – 0% FX

Grade A (excellent): The student is proficient in the cultural studies terminology presented and discussed, as well as in the practical use of the terms. He/she understands the cultural context of the phenomena and events presented and discussed. In the presentation, the student presents the chosen topic without errors and inaccuracies and competently moderates the discussion. Both written assignments are impeccable in language and content.

Grade B (very good): The student has a very good command of the cultural studies terminology presented and discussed, the vocabulary and its practical use with minimal minor errors and inaccuracies. The student understands the cultural contexts of the phenomena and events presented and discussed. He/she presents the chosen topic without major errors and inaccuracies, and competently moderates the discussion. One of the two written assignments contains a few minor mistakes.

Grade C (good): The student masters the cultural studies terminology presented and discussed, and is able to use it with some errors and inaccuracies. He/she understands most of cultural studies contexts of the phenomena and events presented and discussed. He/she presents the chosen topic with a greater number of minor errors and inaccuracies, and moderates the discussion appropriately. Both written assignments contain minor mistakes.

Grade D (satisfactory): The student has a partial command of the cultural studies terminology presented and discussed, and has limitations in its practical use. He/she understands some of the cultural contexts of the phenomena and events presented and discussed. He/she presents the chosen topic with a number of substantial errors and inaccuracies, and only partially moderates the discussion. One of the written assignments contains major mistakes, while the other has minor errors of language and content.

Grade E (sufficient): The student has very limited knowledge of the cultural studies terminology presented and discussed, and has serious shortcomings in applying them in practical language use. He/she understands only minimal cultural studies contexts of the phenomena and events presented and discussed. His/her presentation lacks cohesion, but leads to some meaningful conclusion. Both written assignments contain major mistakes of language and content, but they still reveal some sense.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (100 points/percent): -

Preparation of individual assignments (1/3): each student first prepares two of the following assignments, of which at least one is presented. If he/she does not present one of the assignments, he/she will submit it in written form. Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate profile, this course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

- The student is knowledgeable in the sub-discipline of “Contemporary American and British Culture”, i.e., understands the terminology presented and the contextual background of the course.

- The student understands the historical and political reasons for migration, multiculturalism, the Brexit phenomenon and its significance in the EU, etc.
- The student is familiar with teaching methods or the intercultural principle in language teaching.
- The student is able to apply the presented topics to teaching (create a lesson based on a cultural topic, teaching the language in interaction with the culture of the UK and the USA).

Skills:

- The student is able to work with specialist (secondary) literature, but also with fiction and authentic material, and is able to elaborate on a cultural studies topic for language learning purposes.
- The student can analyse, evaluate, and create teaching materials reflecting the teaching objective, conditions and specificities of a particular educational context.
- The student is able to analyse the latest knowledge of the discipline, apply analytical-critical and linguistic thinking to selected cultural studies phenomena, leading to creativity and empathy.
- The student has developed the skills to communicate fluently about professional aspects of culture and the teaching of culture in English at the C1 level.
- The student acquires presentation and digital skills, is able to search for relevant information in the digital environment and work in the digital learning environment Moodle; he/she also acquires presentation skills and project development.

Competences:

- The student develops literacy skills and acquires literary and intercultural competences.
- The student is able to communicate effectively, collaborate and solve problems as a team.
- The student adequately develops metacognitive awareness, can use effective strategies of self-study and regulation of his/her life reflecting the principles of psycho-hygiene.
- The student develops autonomy, responsibility for his/her further professional development.
- The student knows how to use information and communication technologies in foreign language education, in professional and broader social communication, as well as in his/her further education.
- The student acquires intercultural competences and competences for intercultural approach in language education.
- The student has the prerequisites for active involvement in professional life.

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

Based on the objectives declared in the profile of a graduate, this course aims for a student to develop the following knowledge, skills, and competences:

Knowledge:

The student...:

- is proficient in professional terminology,
- knows and is able to use the hierarchy of linguistic units in practice,
- is oriented in the approaches of the different linguistic schools,
- consolidates the knowledge from previous grammar courses,
- develops and uses the acquired knowledge for the contrastive analysis of bounded linguistic structures as well as for the complex analysis of a text.

Skills:

The student...:

- works independently with a professional text, searches for and correlates the latest knowledge, and critically analyses it,

- develops his/her presentation and communication skills as part of preparation for his/her future career,
- applies theoretical knowledge in solving practical problems,
- demonstrates the ability to analyse and think critically,
- sees issues and problems in a broader context,
- understands and can demonstrate connections, can relate them logically,
- is able to cooperate effectively within a group.

Competences:

The student...:

- communicates effectively within a study/work group, uses self-study strategies,
- is able to present his/her knowledge at an appropriate linguistic level, develops his/her argumentation skills,
- develops his/her linguistic thinking, actively and effectively uses information technology to gather information, which he/she then communicates effectively in English at an appropriate level.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

A brief history of linguistics from ancient times to the present, the naming unit and its basic features, the content and form of the naming unit, compound words, conversion, basic differences between English and Slovak nouns, verbs and adjectives, the sentence, the definition of the sentence and its functional analysis, the function of the subject in English, types of predication, nominal trends in English, sentence structure, word order, inversion

Through the above course content and the use of the above methods of education, the student acquires theoretical knowledge of linguistics as a scientific discipline, develops his/her practical skills and competences in accordance with the profile of a graduate of the Master's degree. He develops his analytical-comparative thinking and deepens the skills of working with text that he has acquired during his previous studies. He/she uses his/her knowledge of English as a foreign language and is able to compare morphological and syntactic characteristics with their Slovak equivalents. With regard to the graduate profile, he develops his pedagogical and linguistic thinking. He/she uses comparative analysis to determine the interference of the mother tongue, works effectively on its prevention and independently or in a group searches for effective methods of strategies usable in future educational practice.

Grade D (satisfactory): With intensive help from the teacher, the student is able to prepare a basic ppt presentation (theoretical background and research findings) on the selected thematic area from the course syllabus; with intensive help from the teacher, the student is able to prepare and teach a practical activity on the selected issue with minor errors; with intensive help from the teacher, the student is able to formulate a case study on the selected issue, which is subsequently solved by the group as part of a colloquium.

Grade E (sufficient): Only with the support and intensive help of the teacher can the student prepare a basic ppt presentation (theoretical background and research findings) on the selected thematic area from the course syllabus; only with the support and intensive help of the teacher can the student prepare and teach a practical activity of the selected issue with mistakes, and formulate a case study of the selected issue, which is subsequently solved by the group in a colloquium.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (50 points/percent): Power-point presentation of a selected topic (theory + research findings) (35 points) Practical teaching task(s) focused on a selected topic (10 points) Preparing a case study focused on a selected topic (5 points) The essential condition for taking a final test is obtaining at least 50% of the continuous assessment (25 points). Final assessment (50 points/percent): Final test (50 points)

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate profile, this course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

Students are proficient in the basic content, methodology, and epistemology of linguodidactics, they are familiar with various sources of knowledge (relevant professional literature, domestic and international research in the field), and are familiar with the broader cultural, intercultural, and social contexts; students know the complete theoretical background and are able to apply innovative and alternative methods of teaching English in groups of pupils with special educational needs (dyslexia, dysgraphia, autism spectrum disorders, ADHD). Students know the strategies for using literary text in the EFL teaching and know how to incorporate different communication media forms into teaching. Students know the methodology of research in education and other relevant sciences.

Skills:

Students are able to analyse and evaluate educational programs according to the conditions of a specific educational environment (constructivism, cooperative teaching); they have developed skills to apply the acquired theoretical knowledge in pedagogical practice, to propose and evaluate solutions to educational problems (through case studies); students are familiar and are able to work with linguistic literature, which they can critically analyse and process; they can linguistically analyse authentic English texts used in English language teaching in different types of schools and reveal their linguistic potential; students can actively use different ways of working with literary texts in English language teaching; students can observe, critically analyse and review the latest trends and approaches, which they can discuss and in a group and implement them in their pedagogical activities; students can analyse, evaluate and create teaching materials reflecting the specific teaching objective, conditions and characteristics of a particular educational context; students know how to use information and communication technologies in EFL teaching.

Competences:

Students have adequately developed analytical-critical and pedagogical-psychological-linguistic thinking, which allows them to use the acquired knowledge for didactic purposes as well as for their personal, professional and social development; students have developed personal and affective prerequisites for a humanistic approach to learners and the teaching process (self-confidence, assertiveness, empathy, flexibility, tolerance, ability to reveal and respect individual characteristics of pupils, etc.); students are able to make independent decisions and responsibly solve problems related to the implementation of foreign language teaching at the appropriate level of education (ISCED1 – ISCED3) and the appropriate language level of students (A1 – B2 according to CEFR) reflecting social and ethical responsibility in decision-making and acting in accordance with professional ethics; students are able to communicate effectively, argue, cooperate and solve case studies, assigned problem tasks in a team; students have developed autonomy, responsibility for their further professional development; students know how to use information and communication technologies in foreign language education, in professional and broader social communication as well as in their further education; students are able to communicate about the possibilities of making foreign language education more effective, they are involved in professional life in foreign language education.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

Validity and reliability of testing language resources and skills; critical thinking and critical reading (I.N.S.E.R.T method); accuracy and fluency in developing speaking skills and teacher's questions; developing writing skills (academic and creative writing); use of songs, literary texts, authentic materials and digital technology in English language teaching; constructivism in the language classroom, cooperative learning in the language classroom; teaching English to groups of students with special educational needs (dyslexia, dysgraphia, dysorthography, autism spectrum disorders; ADHD)

Through the above course content and the use of the above methods of education, the student acquires knowledge, develops his/her didactic skills and competences corresponding to the profile of a graduate of the bachelor's degree in the study programme Teaching of English Language and Literature in Combination.

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate profile, this course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

- The student knows the theoretical principles of designing and planning the teaching of English in primary education, knows the principles of the learner-centred approach and understands their relevance for making learning and teaching English more effective in primary education.
- The student is familiar with the methods used for teaching foreign languages and methods applied when teaching English in primary education, the student knows and can apply innovative and alternative methods of teaching English when teaching learners with special educational needs in primary education.

Skills:

- The student is familiar with relevant didactic publications and materials, can analyse and select them, can analyse and evaluate educational programmes, create a lesson plan by applying innovative methods of English language teaching suitable for pupils in primary education and can use ICT when teaching English in primary education.
- The student can apply the acquired theoretical knowledge when solving didactic assignments and problem solving tasks.

Competences:

- The student has adequately developed analytical, critical and pedagogical thinking, adequately developed presentation and argumentation skills.
- The student is able to cooperate and in a team, he/she is able to solve didactic tasks of different kinds.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

Developmental characteristics of pupils in the middle childhood; learning theories; ISCED 1-through brainstorming students present their views on teaching pupils in primary education and learning theories, become familiar with ISCED 1, justify the appropriateness of the chosen methods by solving case studies.

Developing language skills and acquiring language means in English by pupils in the primary education; developing literacy skills, Jolly Phonics method - through brainstorming and mind maps students summarise their knowledge regarding teaching language means and language skills, they discuss the differences between the orthographic system of the Slovak and English language and its impact on reading and writing in English. Through videos, they are introduced to Jolly Phonics method and the multisensory approach applied in teaching reading.

Teaching English in relation to other subjects, CLIL; project method in teaching English in primary education - students will evaluate the possibilities of using cross-curricular links in English lessons, they will become familiar with ISCED1 and design a project focused on the use of cross-curricular links, which might be implemented by pupils when dealing with that particular topic.

Developing learning strategies; development of teaching materials, use of ICT, teaching English to learners with SEN – students will discuss the possibilities of developing the basics of effective learning strategies by both intact learners and learners with special educational needs and create a lesson plan with modified activities for learners with dyslexia.

Cooperation between the school and the learner's family, communication between the English language teacher and the learner's parents - through role-plays, students will try to solve certain situations, analyse their "performance" and discuss alternative ways of solving the problems.

Class syllabus:

The aim of the state examination in didactics of English language and literature is to test the level of knowledge, skills and competences specified in the graduate's profile, with emphasis on the ability to synthesize and practically apply the theoretical didactic knowledge acquired in the previous subjects. Each question is accompanied by a problem task or case study related to the relevant thematic area, where the student demonstrates his/her understanding of causal relationships and contexts, his/her level of flexibility of pedagogical-psychological thinking and the ability to apply theoretical knowledge to solve a specific teaching problem.

The content of the state examination in the didactics of English language and literature is based on the compulsory subjects M-ANGde-002 Didactics of the English Language (profile subject), M-ANGde-004 Current Trends in the Didactics of the English Language, M-ANGde-005 Psychological Aspects of Foreign Language Learning and M-ANGde-018 Didactics of the English Language for Primary Learners. Students can further deepen their knowledge, skills and competences in the offered compulsory elective courses: M-ANGde-029 Didactics of English Language for Pre-primary Learners, M-ANGde-030 Didactics of Grammar and M-ANGde-021 Didactics of English Language for Adults.

Students will present their knowledge, skills, competences as well as the level of communicative competence in English through a guided discussion with the members of the committee on various topics which are generated for the student automatically, while in the next part of the discussion the student practically solves an assigned problem or case study related to the respective topic area.

Teaching methods: Combination of monological methods (instruction), situational methods (case studies), dialogical methods (interview, discussion), and practical methods ((induction, deduction, analysis, synthesis).
Number of credits: 4
Recommended semester: 2.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: There will be two written examinations of 50 points each during the semester. Students may earn 50 points for each review. The final grade will be the sum of the points earned from both quizzes. A minimum of 91 points is required for a final grade of A, a minimum of 81 points is required for a grade of B, a minimum of 73 points is required for a grade of C, a minimum of 66 points is required for a grade of D, and a minimum of 60 points is required for a grade of E. Credit will not be awarded to a student who obtains less than 25 points in either of the two written examinations. To pass the course, a minimum score of 60% is required. The grade is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, satisfactory - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, inadequate - extra work required)

A - excellent performance, the student masters the basic concepts of didactics of music education, can apply what he/she has learned in theory to practice; critically evaluates, analyzes, connects;
B - excellent performance, the student masters the basic concepts in the field of didactics of music education, however, when applying the knowledge to practice, slight deficiencies are observed - he/she solves model situations with minor hesitations; critical thinking is borderline;
C - good performance, although the student has acquired knowledge in the field of didactics of music education, but he can only partially apply what he has learned to practice; he has problems with complex problem solving;
D - acceptable performance, the student has only partially mastered the knowledge in the field of didactics of music education, he/she has significant deficiencies in the problem, he/she cannot apply what he/she has learnt in practice, he/she has problems solving model situations; his/her term paper meets the minimum criteria;
E - minimally acceptable performance, the student has acquired minimal knowledge in the field of didactics of music education, he/she is unable to transfer it adequately into practice;
Fx - unacceptable performance, the student has not sufficiently mastered the knowledge in the field of didactics of music education, or has not fulfilled the conditions set by the teacher during the semester.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes:

The student acquires a basic orientation in the field of didactics of music, understands its subject, focus, content, objectives, subject of research, structure, division, links to related pedagogical and music science disciplines. The student understands the direct connection between didactics and education, can theoretically reflect on selected educational processes using specific terminology, can apply selected theoretical bases in music education. The problems of didactics of music and music education are made clear to the student by three elements: content, objectives, method. The content is primarily musical expressive means, the aim is the development of musical abilities as well as key competences of the pupil, and the methodological bases are musical activities in accordance with the requirement of the musical-activity character of education.

Class syllabus:

Course outcomes of subject (content):

Didactics of music - subject, systematics, historical context. Links between didactics and pedagogy, education and methodology. Content of education - didactic aspect of musical expressive means: rhythmic education, intonation education, vocal education, work with song, improvisation, composition, listening to music. Methodological background - specific methods, musical activities as a primary way of acquiring music. Aim - development of musical abilities, overlaps of music on the development of pupils' key competences.

Educational activities: Type of activities: lecture + seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Type, volume, methods and workload of the student - additional information Type of activities, scope (number of hours) and methods of educational activities: Full-time: Form of instruction : 1 lecture, 1 seminar, combined form (primarily full-time) Recommended length of teaching (in hours): Weekly :2 Over the study period: 22 hours Student workload: 11 x 2 hours of direct teaching (total: 22 hours);40 hours preparation of seminar work;38 hours study of literature and preparation for continuous assessment. 100 hours of student work in total. Teaching methods: Combination of monological methods (instruction), situational methods (case studies), dialogical methods (interview, discussion), and practical methods (induction, deduction, analysis, synthesis).
Number of credits: 4
Recommended semester: 3.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites: PdF.KHV/M-KHVde005/22 - Didactics of Musical Education I
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: During the semester, the student will prepare and publicly present a written preparation for a music education lesson, which will include the creation of a didactic aid for 60 points, and will pass a test on the didactics of music education for 40 points. A minimum of 91 points is required for a final grade of A, a minimum of 81 points for a grade of B, a minimum of 73 points for a grade of C, a minimum of 66 points for a grade of D and a minimum of 60 points for a grade of E. Credit will not be awarded to a student who obtains less than 25 points in either of the two written examinations. To pass the course, a minimum score of 60% is required. The grade is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, satisfactory - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, inadequate - additional work required)

A - excellent performance, the student masters the concepts of didactics of music education, can apply what he/she has learned in theory to practice; critically evaluates, analyzes, connects;
B - excellent performance, the student masters the concepts from the field of didactics of music education, however, when applying the knowledge to practice, slight deficiencies are observed - he/she solves model situations with minor hesitations; critical thinking is borderline;
C - good performance, although the student has acquired knowledge in the field of didactics of music education, but he can only partially apply what he has learned to practice; he has problems with complex problem solving;
D - acceptable performance, the student has only partially mastered the knowledge in the field of didactics of music education, he/she has significant deficiencies in the problem, he/she cannot apply what he/she has learnt in practice, he/she has problems solving model situations; his/her term paper meets the minimum criteria;
E - minimally acceptable performance, the student has acquired minimal knowledge in the field of didactics of music education, he/she is unable to transfer it adequately into practice;
Fx - unacceptable performance, the student has not sufficiently mastered the knowledge in the field of didactics of music education, or has not fulfilled the conditions set by the teacher during the semester.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes:

The student knows theoretically and practically (own proposals) the problems of the lesson - its stages, structure, form, tectonics, as well as related activities - teacher's preparation for teaching. Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 4.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Recommended prerequisites: none
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: Continuous assessment (100%): Lesson plan (30%) Sample lesson (20%) Theoretical test (50%) Grading: 100 – 95% A, 94 – 89% B, 88 – 83% C, 82 – 77% D, 76 – 70% E, 69–0% FX Class attendance and completion of the continuous assessment tests with any score are prerequisites for the final continuous assessment. The student is allowed to ask for an extra date for the interim assessment tests (if he/she has not attended the assessment for medical or other serious reasons) but is not allowed to re-sit any of the tests.

Grade A (excellent performance): The student is able to independently develop and practically teach the “micro teaching” lesson, compose their his/her own English-language lesson plan aimed at an adult learner, applying innovative teaching methods for the relevant language level according to the CEFR, the student knows the complex theoretical background of methods and theories of foreign language teaching with regard to the characteristics of the subjects of foreign language teaching and the use of a variety of appropriate learning tasks and organizational forms in teaching.

Grade B (very good): The student, with minimal help from the teacher, is able to create and practically teach the “micro teaching” lesson, compose his/her own English lesson plan aimed at an adult student, with the application of innovative teaching methods for the relevant language level according to the CEFR, the student knows several theoretical backgrounds of methods and theories of foreign language teaching with regard to the characteristics of the subjects of foreign language teaching and the use of a variety of appropriate teaching tasks and organizational forms in teaching.

Grade C (good): The student, with the help of the teacher, is able to create and, with minor errors, practically teach the “micro teaching”, to compose the English lesson plan aimed at an adult student, with the application of innovative teaching methods for the relevant language level according to the CEFR, the student knows the basic theoretical background of methods and theories of foreign language teaching with regard to the characteristics of the subjects of foreign language teaching and the use of a variety of appropriate teaching tasks and organisational forms in teaching.

Grade D (satisfactory): The student only with the intensive help of the teacher can create an English lesson plan with a focus on the adult learner for the relevant language level according to the CEFR, a part of which can be taught as “micro teaching” lesson. With a greater number of deficiencies, the student will present only partial theoretical knowledge of foreign language teaching, partial characteristics of the subjects of foreign language teaching and the use of a variety of appropriate teaching tasks and organizational forms in teaching.

Grade E (satisfactory performance): The student only with the support and intensive help of the teacher can partially create an English lesson plan aimed at adult learners for the appropriate language level according to the CEFR, a part of which he/she can teach in the “micro teaching”. Only with the support of the teacher and with a greater number of shortcomings, the student is able to present only partial knowledge of teaching methods and theories of foreign language teaching, partial knowledge of some basic characteristics of the subjects of foreign language teaching and the use of a variety of appropriate learning tasks and organisational forms in teaching.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (100%): Lesson plan (30%)

Sample lesson (20%) Theoretical test (50%)

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate’s profile, this course aims to acquire the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

Through the above-mentioned knowledge the student knows the principles of pedagogical diagnostics on andragogical basis, also considering the individual characteristics of adult learners, he/she knows the basic content, methodology and epistemology of didactic disciplines. The student knows the trends in the development of teaching methods and practices, especially with regard to the adult learner. The student knows the theoretical and practical contexts of didactics in the English language, and the principles and importance of the application of digital technologies in foreign language education.

Skills:

The student has developed skills to apply the acquired theoretical knowledge in pedagogical practice, to propose and evaluate solutions to educational problems. The student is able to independently design and implement English language teaching for adult learners, to analyse and evaluate teaching programmes; to analyse, evaluate and create teaching materials reflecting the teaching objective, conditions, and peculiarities of a particular educational context. The student is able to communicate effectively, has developed presentation and argumentation skills. The student has developed skills to communicate fluently in English in a variety of specific situations at C1 level. The student knows how to use information and communication technologies in English language teaching.

Competences:

The student has adequately developed analytical-critical and pedagogical-psychological-linguistic thinking, which enables him/her to use the acquired knowledge for didactic purposes as well as for his/her personal, professional, and social development. COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2022/2023
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KPg/M-VUZde023/22	Course title: Disorders of child development, learning and behaviour
Educational activities: Type of activities: seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 2., 4.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisite subjects: none Prerequisites: 100% of the continuous assessment, the course is completed by assessment. During the semester, students will prepare a seminar paper (max. 30 points), present the seminar paper (max. 10 points) and pass an intermediate didactic test (max. 60 points). The didactic test contains tasks of varying cognitive difficulty, so it stratifies students not only according to the extent of knowledge acquired. The test and the seminar paper are designed to verify the learning outcomes. The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding results), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, well - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, sufficient - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, insufficient - extra work required) For successful completion of the course it is necessary to obtain at least 60% of the points from all partial tasks. For an A grade, students need to perform excellently throughout the semester and be capable of independent study. Students are able to navigate through a variety of literature sources, are able to select relevant sources for their studies, are able to navigate the issues of childhood developmental, learning and behavioural disorders, i.e. have basic information on their aetiopathogenesis, epidemiology, diagnosis and differential diagnosis, as well as on possible forms of intervention. A grade of B means that students performed above average throughout the semester, were able to study independently, are proficient in basic information related to childhood developmental disorders, behavioral and learning disorders, and are able to navigate the literature. A grade of C means that the students performed well during the semester, their theoretical knowledge of the subject is at a good level, but their ability to apply this knowledge, critically evaluate and compare individual literary sources and psychological knowledge is lacking. A grade of D means that students were less prepared during the semester, they have slight deficiencies in theoretical knowledge related to the subject of education and greater problems in independent implementation work, they are unable to critically analyze information and have problems applying knowledge to practice.

A grade of E means that students fail more than one of the assignments, lack the ability to analyze and compare multiple pieces of knowledge, and fail to think critically, but have mastered most of the theoretical knowledge in the course.

Learning outcomes:

The goal is to familiarize students with the basic classification and manifestations of developmental, behavioral, and learning disorders in childhood and their impact on a child's school functioning. Students will gain a basic understanding of the most General developmental disorders, behavioral and learning disorders occurring primarily in the school-aged child. The ability to navigate the subject matter is essential for future subject specialty teachers at the lower and upper secondary levels, especially in the context of pro-inclusive school policies. They will not only acquire theoretical knowledge, but will also acquire sufficient competence to work with other professionals involved in dealing with developmental, learning and behavioural disorders. It is anticipated that teachers will be confronted with an increasing number of different images of developmental disorders in the years to come, and it is therefore essential to acquire not only the knowledge but also the competences for possible cooperation. Students are familiarised with the issue of normality in child psychology, with the risks of developmental disorders and with international classifications, which will enable them to better understand the origins and manifestations of individual disorders. A good understanding of the subject is a prerequisite for an individualised teacher-pupil relationship with a developmental, learning and behavioural disorder. Such a relationship requires not only empathy, but must also be underpinned by acquired skills. An important goal is to prepare students to participate in the implementation of individual education plans for children with developmental, learning and behavioural disabilities. Most children with developmental, learning and behavioural disorders (with few exceptions) are pupils in mainstream primary schools and it is therefore important that students are able to work competently with the inclusion team, but also with specialists in other fields such as a neurologist, psychologist, speech and language therapist and paediatrician.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

1. Introduction to developmental disorders /definition of developmental disorders, precursors of developmental disorders, classification of developmental disorders.
2. Etiology of developmental disorders /pathogenic factors and the complexity of their action, risks in the pre-, peri- and post-natal period, early diagnosis, intervention, stimulation, deprivation/.
3. Psychomotor retardation /general developmental delay/ and mental retardation /intellectual disorders, etiology, classification, possibilities and limitations of intervention.
4. Enuresis, encopresis, tics - psychogenic conditioned disorders in the somatic area. Manifestations, forms, possibilities of intervention.
5. Primary psychogenic communication disorders - barking and mutism /definition, classification, possibilities of intervention/.
6. Pervasive developmental disorders or autism spectrum disorders / autism, Asperger's syndrome, Rett's syndrome, etiology, clinical picture, organization of care.
7. The problem of organicity in child psychology. Cerebral palsy - etiology, clinical picture. Developmental disorder of motor functions.
8. Mild brain dysfunction, present - hyperkinetic syndrome or ADHD
The most significant factors in working with children with ADHD, ADD.
9. Specific learning disabilities - diagnosis and differential diagnosis, remedial programmes in work with children with specific learning disabilities.

10. Emotional disorders in childhood - anxiety disorders and depression in childhood and adolescence.
11. Behavioural disorders, classification, manifestations and intervention options

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2022/2023
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KPg/M-VUZde001/22	Course title: Educational diagnostics and evaluation
Educational activities: Type of activities: lecture + seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester: 2., 4.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: Weighting of interim and final assessment: 50/50 - the course is completed by examination. During the semester there will be three colloquial midterm evaluations of 10 points each and four midterm assignments of 5b will be worked on. The final exam will be graded 50pts. Credit will not be awarded to a student who receives less than 5 points on any of the three interim assessments and fails to submit all processed distance assignments for at least a 3b. A minimum of 60% of the course grade is required for successful completion of the course. The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - excellent results with only minimal errors), B (90-81%, very good - above average results with minor errors), C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work, average results), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results, but significant errors occur), E (65-60%, sufficient - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, insufficient - extra work required). A minimum of 91 points is required for a final grade of A. For this grade, the student should demonstrate: a creative and original approach in the development of intermediate assignments, excellent professional knowledge and its application in problem solving, excellent orientation in the subject matter, excellent communication skills, responsibility and timely completion of assignments, exceptional activity in the classroom during the semester. A score of at least 81 points is required for a final grade of B. For this grade, the student should demonstrate: a creative approach in developing ongoing assignments using a model, above average expertise and application of that expertise in problem solving using tutorials, above average orientation to the problem, above average communication skills, responsibility and timely completion of assignments, above average activity in class during the semester. A minimum of 73 points is required for a final grade of C. For this grade, the student should demonstrate: the ability to develop intermediate assignments using the given template, good professional knowledge and its application in solving problem problems in a group or with the help of the instructor, good orientation in the subject matter, good communication skills, completion of the assigned tasks, average activity in class during the semester when prompted by the instructor.

A minimum of 66 points is required for a final grade of D. For this grade, the student is expected to demonstrate: the ability to develop intermediate assignments using a given template and with the assistance of the instructor, average proficiency and application in problem solving in a group setting or with the assistance of the instructor, average orientation to the subject matter, average communication skills, completion of assignments, and basic activity in the classroom during the semester in collaboration with the instructor or other students.

A score of at least 60 points is required for a final grade of E. For this assessment, the student should demonstrate: the ability to prepare continuous assignments and with the help of the instructor, basic/minimal professional knowledge, basic/minimal orientation in the subject matter, basic communication skills, completion of the assigned tasks.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 50/50

Learning outcomes:

Learning objectives and outcomes:

- The graduate of the course can react originally, flexibly and fluently to situations that may arise in the teaching process. He/she is able to realistically set the goals and processes of pedagogical diagnosis, while being able to adapt them on the basis of reflection to the educational needs of the pupils.

- It takes a comprehensive approach to pedagogical diagnostics, using both the process of analysis and synthesis in the search for solutions. It uses thinking strategies based on critical appraisal in its decision-making, which relies on facts and clearly formulated information from reliable sources of information.

- He/she is aware of his/her own responsibility and the social and ethical impact of his/her decisions in the process of pedagogical diagnostics. Can make decisions with incomplete information and in the new situations that the teaching process and the current times bring. Is aware of the interdisciplinary scope of pedagogical diagnostics not only in relation to teaching but also in relation to the current needs of society.

- The graduate is able to carry out his/her own microanalysis - reflection of the lesson and take the necessary decisions related to it. He/she is able to carry out action research in the context of teaching.

- The graduate is able to use the acquired knowledge and skills in solving (problem) tasks creatively. He/she can analyse the problem and synthesise new solutions. Actively and flexibly brings new solutions to the assigned task. Can formulate clear conclusions and justifications that can be presented to both the professional community and the general public.

- Graduates of the course are encouraged to adopt a growth-oriented mind-set and lifelong learning. Transferable competences on which the course reflects: development of communication, organisational and digital skills. Fostering analytical, critical, creative and growth-oriented thinking; developing skills related to facilitation and mentoring. Promoting the development of reflective skills, self-reflection and the perception of self-responsibility with personal decisions.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

1. Introduction to educational diagnostics:

- Understanding the purpose and goals of pedagogical diagnosis in the context of effective teaching.
- Opportunities for self-discovery and the importance of teacher self-reflection.
- Basic mind-sets (fixed and growth-oriented) in the context of controlling versus autonomous teaching.
- Pedagogical diagnosis in critical motivational moments of the teaching process.

2. The diagnostic process:

- Diagnostic cycle

- Stages of diagnosis
 - Edumetric vs. casuistic approach
 - Implicit and explicit diagnosis
 - Individual, group diagnosis and diagnosis in relation to the norm.
 - Principles of effective pedagogical diagnostics
 - Grades, verbal evaluation and feedback
3. Three units in one: the personality of the pupil in pedagogical diagnostics.
- Perception of the personality of the pupil through three interrelated parts: cognitive, affective and (volitional) behavioural.
 - Cognitive domain: differentiation of cognitive functions and processes, metacognition and executive functions. Working with the possible contents and contexts of the concepts: knowledge, ability, skill, competence and competence.
 - Affective domain: differentiation of affective functions and processes in experiencing (differentiation of emotions and feelings). Working with possible contents and contexts of concepts: attitudes, values, motivational factors.
 - Conative area: manifestations of experiencing and thinking in the pupil's behaviour, volitional processes. Work with possible contents and contexts of the concepts: relationship, action, behaviour, group dynamics.
4. Pedagogical diagnostics and the cognitive area of the pupil's personality.
- Overview of basic methods and forms of diagnosis of knowledge and skills.
 - Principles of didactic test construction (written versus didactic test and adaptive didactic test).
 - Verbal rehearsal versus diagnostic presentation skills.
 - Effective feedback versus verbal evaluation.
 - Pupil self-assessment
 - A global and analytical approach to diagnosis in the cognitive domain.
5. Pedagogical diagnostics and the affective area of the pupil's personality.
- An overview of basic methods and forms of diagnosing student attitudes, values and motivators in school.
 - Possibilities of diagnosing attitudinal and value preferences.
 - Methods of recognizing the motivating factors (interests, passions, internal goal setting) of the learner.
 - Diagnosis of the pupil's learning needs (individual learning preferences).
6. Pedagogical diagnosis and pupil behaviour.
- An overview of basic methods and forms of diagnosing relationships and group dynamics in the classroom.
 - Every student-human being has his/her own reasons why he/she behaves the way he/she does (subconscious or conscious)
 - Setting and assessing the motivational potential of the activity/task.
 - Setting and assessing pupil engagement in relationships with the teacher and in relationships with classmates.
 - Working with conflict in the classroom (teacher as a conflict actor and as a facilitator).
 - Group dynamics of the classroom and its atmosphere, climate and environment.
7. Thinking strategies and key communication skills of the teacher.
- Rules for effective individual and group observation
 - Rules for effective (facilitative) individual and group conversation with pupils.
 - Principles of effective conversation with the parent(s) of the pupil.
 - Basic teacher thinking strategies needed for effective observation and interviewing.
- Colloquial midterm assessment and distance assignments: the student will develop four midterm assignments during the semester (e.g., microanalysis of four different events (video) from the lesson, didactic test model). They present and discuss their interim assignment in a small group (3-4 students), followed by a class discussion across groups (colloquial interim assessment). Final evaluation: after each lecture and seminar (including the colloquial mid-term evaluation) the student will make a short reflection (what I found interesting, what I learned, what hindered me, what I need to convey differently) in a simple portfolio. The final assessment is done individually through a short conversation between the teacher and the student, focusing on the student's entries in the portfolio. The student's final evaluation is the result of the student's self-evaluation and feedback from the instructor.

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate profile, this course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

Students are familiar with the basic works and genres of electronic and experimental literature written in the 20th century. Students understand the basic possibilities of using their creative potential in text production, students understand the role and significance of media works in a cultural and literary-theoretical context, they know the principles, meaning and possibilities of applying digital technologies in foreign language education, they know the strategies for using literary text in the pedagogical process and know how to incorporate its various media forms into teaching.

Skills:

Students are able to analyse works and the context in which they were written, and are able to use works appropriately in relation to instructional objectives to show elementary and middle school students the diversity of literary expression and thereby enable them to self-reflect, students can appropriately apply a creative approach to the text as an innovative, student-centred teaching method in an English language lesson plan for any selected ISCED and the relevant language level according to the CEFR, using a variety of appropriate learning tasks and organisational forms of teaching, students have developed broader analytical skills, can discuss independently, in pairs and in groups, have developed interpretive-analytical skills when working with literary works, know how to use information and communication technologies in English language teaching.

Competences:

Students are able to argue, present and defend their opinions and points of view, are able to critically approach media texts and think critically about basic psychological, social and cultural issues that are transcribed not only into their own experience, but also into their position as a competent, knowledgeable, perceptive and understanding teacher for primary and secondary education in the country.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

What is electronic literature? What is the function of poetry? Experimental Directions. Genres and remixes. Oulipo, combinatorial poetry. Visual poetry, collage. Sound poetry. Charts, diagrams, Fluxus. Kinetic poetry, video-poetry. Poetry in social media. Hypertextual literature. Fragmented literature.

Through the above mentioned course content and using the mentioned methods of education, the student acquires knowledge, develops his/her didactic skills and competences corresponding to the profile of a graduate of the Master's degree in the study programme of Teaching English Language and Literature in Combination.

Final assessment (60 points/percent): Final test (60 points) Course evaluation: 100–95% A, 94–90% B, 89–85% C, 84–80% D, 79–75% E, 74–0% FX

Grade A (excellent - outstanding results): The student can independently create his/her own English language lesson plan by applying innovative student-centred teaching methods for the specified ISCED and the relevant language level according to the CEFR, comprehensively knows all the principles of teaching language resources and skills with regard to the characteristics and peculiarities of the subjects of foreign language teaching, comprehensively knows the possibilities of application of different types of authentic materials and modern technologies in teaching.

Grade B (very good - above average standard): The student, with minimal help from the teacher, is able to create his/her own English lesson plan by applying innovative student-centred teaching methods for the specified ISCED and the relevant language level according to the CEFR, is familiar with several principles of teaching language resources and skills with regard to the characteristics and peculiarities of the subjects of foreign language teaching, is well aware of the possibilities of applying different types of authentic materials and modern technologies in teaching.

Grade C (good - normal reliable work): The student, with the help of the teacher, is able to create an English lesson plan by applying innovative student-centred teaching methods for the specified ISCED and the relevant language level according to the CEFR, knows the basic principles of teaching language resources and skills with regard to the characteristics and peculiarities of the subjects of foreign language teaching, knows the basic possibilities of application of some types of authentic materials and modern technologies in teaching.

Grade D (satisfactory - acceptable results): The student, only with the intensive help of the teacher, is able to create an English lesson plan for the specified ISCED and the corresponding language level according to the CEFR, partially knows the principles of teaching language resources and skills with regard to the basic characteristics of the subjects of foreign language teaching, partially knows the basic possibilities of application of some types of authentic materials and modern technologies in teaching.

Grade E (satisfactory - results meet the minimum criteria): The student only with the support and intensive help of the teacher can partially create an English lesson plan for the specified ISCED and the relevant language level according to the CEFR, partially knows only some of the principles of teaching language resources and skills, partially knows some of the basic characteristics of the subjects of foreign language teaching, partially knows the basic possibilities of application of some types of authentic materials and modern technologies in teaching.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (40 points/percent): Designing a lesson plan (20 points) Analysis of selected teaching materials and video-recordings (10 points) Seminar paper (10 points) The essential condition for taking a final test is obtaining at least 60% of the continuous assessment (24 points). Final assessment (60 points/percent): Final test (60 points)

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate profile, this course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

Students know the theoretical principles of designing and planning teaching in primary, lower and upper secondary education (ISCED 1 – ISCED3); they know the theoretical and practical aspects of English language didactics (teaching language skills and language means) reflecting the pedagogical-psychological and social-psychological and developmental-psychological specificities of the learner; know and are able to apply innovative and alternative English language teaching methods; know the principles, meaning and possibilities of the application of digital technologies in foreign language teaching and understand their importance for the effectiveness of EFL teaching and learning.

Skills:

Students are able to independently design and carry out EFL teaching taking into account a learner-centred approach at each level of education (ISCED 1 – ISCED3) and relevant language levels (A1 – B2 according to CEFR), flexibly and creatively adapting curriculum requirements to the specific conditions of learners, classrooms and types of school; students are able to analyse, evaluate and create teaching materials reflecting the respective language level, teaching objective, conditions and peculiarities of the specific educational context; students are oriented in the professional linguodidactic literature, they are able to follow, critically analyse and review the latest trends and creatively implement them in their pedagogical activities; students are familiar with the ways of using information and communication technologies in EFL teaching.

Competences:

Students have adequately developed analytical-critical and pedagogical-psychological-linguistic thinking, which allows them to use the acquired knowledge for didactic purposes as well as for their personal, professional and social development; students have developed personal and affective prerequisites for a humanistic approach to learners and the teaching process (self-confidence, assertiveness, empathy, flexibility, tolerance, the ability to diagnose and respect individual personalities of learners, etc.); students are able to make independent decisions and responsibly solve problems related to the implementation of foreign language education at the appropriate level of education (ISCED1 – ISCED3) and the appropriate language level of learners (A1– B2 according to CEFR) reflecting social and ethical responsibility in decision-making and acting in accordance with professional ethics; students are able to communicate effectively, argue, cooperate and solve the assigned problem-solving tasks in a team; students are able to communicate about the possibilities of improving the effectiveness of foreign language education in Slovakia.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Teaching language means (grammar, vocabulary, pronunciation); teaching receptive and productive language skills (listening, reading, speaking, writing); models for integrating language skills; developing interaction, communication and teacher questioning in foreign language education; testing and assessment in foreign language education; developing intercultural awareness; use of authentic materials and ICT in English language teaching

Through the above course content and the use of the above methods of education, the student acquires knowledge, develops his/her didactic skills and competences corresponding to the profile of a graduate of the Master's degree in the study programme of Teaching English Language and Literature in Combination.

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

Based on the learning objectives declared in the profile of a graduate, this course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

The student will deepen and broaden the basic lexical terminology acquired in the Bachelor's studies, expand his/her knowledge of the vocabulary of modern English, learn the structural-functional characteristics of the English vocabulary, acquire the theoretical principles of the formation of paradigmatic relations in the lexicon, become familiar with the classification and properties of English collocations and idioms, master the contextual, temporal and geographic properties of English words.

Skills:

The student can practically distinguish the different types of formal paradigmatic relations of lexical units, correctly identifies semantic relations among lexemes, knows and uses different types of English multi-word expressions, can correctly use stylistically and socially marked lexis, can practically use the acquired theoretical knowledge in the analysis of a coherent authentic text, learns to use dictionaries to acquire English vocabulary, is able to work with and critically analyse academic literature, has acquired strategies for vocabulary acquisition, can use the acquired knowledge in an appropriate and adequate way for his/her further professional development.

Competences:

The student learns to work independently and in a team in solving lexical problems and tasks, can communicate professionally about the lexical phenomena covered in the class, is able to find and use digital resources and aids useful for further independent development and expansion of his/her vocabulary, develops the ability to analyse and synthesise linguistic material, is able to read academic literature, is able to link the acquired theoretical knowledge with the subject of research in other linguistic disciplines, has adequately developed presentation and argumentation skills, is able to apply the acquired knowledge and strategies in an appropriate way in his/her further education and in his/her professional practice.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

Lexical relations in vocabulary; formal, morphological and word-formation relations among words; homonymy, homophony, homography and falsonymy, semantic relations in vocabulary, polysemy, synonymy and antonymy; hyponymy and meronymy, semantic fields, syntagmatic relations between words – collocations and idioms, stylistic classification of words, emotional colouring of words, social differentiation of vocabulary, temporal properties of words, geographical variation of English vocabulary

By means of the above content, the student learns about the lexical level of the English language, its structural-functional properties, learns the ways of applying theoretical knowledge in practice through English vocabulary analysis, develops his/her vocabulary and the ability to communicate fluently at C1 level, can read academic literature in English, learns to work independently and in a team on solving lexical issues and problems, can appropriately apply the acquired knowledge and skills in the classroom.

accordance with the profile of the graduate, in accordance with the objectives and learning outcomes in individual subjects of the study programme and other relevant documents.

Class syllabus:

Course outcomes of subject (content):

The state examination consists of two components, namely 1. English language and 2. literature.

1. The aim of the English language examination is to test the students' ability to synthesize and practically apply the theoretical linguistic knowledge acquired in the compulsory courses of study. The content of the state examination is based partly on the compulsory course M-ANGde-001 English lexicology and mainly on the compulsory course M-ANGde-006 contrastive linguistics, which is directly related to the objectives and content of the individual linguistic disciplines in the Bachelor's and Master's degree. In addition, it enriches students' knowledge and the ability to compare and contrast languages. The further development of the skills to analyse authentic texts is also possible in the compulsory elective courses M-ANGde-013, Linguistic Analysis of Text I (which focuses on general linguistic and lexical analysis) and M-ANGde-014, Linguistic Analysis of Text II (which focuses on general linguistic, morphological and syntactic analysis of texts).

Students will present their knowledge, skills, and competencies through a practical analysis of an authentic text, whereby the number of student's oral test task will be generated for the student, indicating the type of analysis required (lexical, morphological or syntactic) of the attached text.

In the linguistic analysis, students will focus on some of the following areas:

Lexical analysis of the text:

- Various word-formation processes (affixation, conversion, compounding, shortening, etc.)
- Semantic changes (metaphor, personification, metonymy, euphemisms/dysphemisms, etc.)
- Formal and semantic relations among words (homonymy, homophony, polysemy, synonymy, antonymy, etc.)
- Multiword units - collocations and idioms
- Stylistic classification of words (neutral, formal, informal, etc.)

Morphological analysis of the text:

- Analysis of phrases (NP, VP, AdjP, AdvP, VP)
- Grammatical categories of nouns (number, gender, case)
- Usage of articles (generic, specific and unique reference)
- Linguistic characteristics of adjectives and adverbs
- Linguistic characteristics of verbs and verb phrases
- Time, tense, aspect, voice, mood
- Modal and primary auxiliary verbs

Syntactic analysis of the text:

- Clause elements
- Types of sentences
- Word order and variations on clause types
- Negation of sentences
- Complex sentence analysis, relative and conditional clauses
- Reported speech
- Pro-forms and ellipsis

2. The aim of the state examination in literature will be to test students' ability to synthesize and practically apply the theoretical knowledge of literature acquired in the compulsory courses M-ANGde-003 Modern English Literature and M-ANGde-007 Modern American Literature. Students can further deepen their knowledge and skills in the compulsory elective courses M-ANGde-015 Working with Literary Text and M-ANGde-017 English Minority Literature. Students will first characterize a selected literary period, genre, and theme, and then demonstrate their knowledge, interpretive-analytical skills, and relevant competencies through readings from the works of these authors. At the same time, they will present strategies for using the literary text in the pedagogical process.

The theses synthesize the knowledge acquired in the various literature-oriented courses.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2022/2023
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KPg/M-VUZde014/22	Course title: Inclusive education
Educational activities: Type of activities: seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 2., 4.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: The course ends with an assessment, weighting of the interim and final assessment 100/0 - participation in class or active involvement in discussions (30 points); - group presentation of a selection of topics (30 points) The individual groups will be divided according to the following topics: 1) Inclusive education and the Dalton Plan; 2) Inclusive education and Maria Montessori's Pedagogy; 3) Inclusive education and Susan Kovalik's Integrated Thematic Teaching; 4) Inclusive education and another alternative pedagogical approach of their choice. Each group has to present in an engaging way a general description of the chosen pedagogical approach; present several concrete examples of pedagogical or didactic activities from this approach; demonstrate at least one activity (relevant for the 2nd grade of primary or secondary school) in the classroom; evaluate the usefulness and relevance of this approach for Inclusive education; provide basic information about schools in Slovakia that apply these pedagogical approaches in practice. - group seminar paper on the topic of the presentation (40 points) The seminar paper will be co-authored by all members of the group who will present on the topic. The assignment is to present (approx. 10 standard pages) the pedagogical approach about which the group presented in class and analytically and critically evaluate its usefulness in pedagogical practice in relation to Inclusive education with a focus on the second level of primary and/or secondary schools in the Slovak Republic, or to discuss its advantages, disadvantages and limitations. It is to be a seminar paper based on a critical analysis of the literature. It should therefore not be exclusively descriptive work, but also analytical. The aim is to critically and argumentatively evaluate the usefulness of the approach in relation to Inclusive education. One of the criteria of the thesis is coherence, i.e. the unity of the thesis as a whole. The rating is awarded on a scale: A 100 - 91% (excellent - outstanding results), B 90 - 81% (very good - above average standard), C 80 - 73% (good - normal reliable operation), D 72 - 66% (satisfactory - acceptable results), E 65 - 60% (sufficient - results meet minimum criteria),

Fx 59% or less (insufficient).

A minimum of 91 points is required for a final grade A, a minimum of 81 points for a grade B, a minimum of 73 points for a grade C, a minimum of 66 points for a grade D and a minimum of 60 points for a grade E. To pass the course, a minimum of 60% of the marks must be obtained.

For a grade of A, the student needs to produce consistently excellent results, be capable of independent study, and be able to reflect on the problems presented. The student can critically evaluate the information presented, identify problems and propose original solutions, can select relevant sources for his/her studies, can analyse and select professional or scientific information, is familiar with theoretical and empirical knowledge in the field of Inclusive education and can apply it in his/her pedagogical practice. At the same time, students are able to work in a team and collaborate on assignments.

A grade of B means that the student achieved above average results throughout the semester, was able to study independently, knows basic information about Inclusive education, can navigate the literature, and can apply the knowledge gained to practice in working with children and students, but there are also shortcomings in his critical and creative thinking. At the same time, students are able to work in a team and collaborate on assignments.

A grade of C means that the student has performed standardly well during the semester, his or her theoretical knowledge of the subject is at a good level, but the ability to apply this knowledge, critically evaluate and compare individual literary sources is lacking. There are more weaknesses in critical and inductive thinking as well as in group work.

The grade D means that the student was less prepared during the semester, has slight deficiencies in theoretical knowledge related to the subject of education and has more problems in independent implementation work, as well as in group work, cannot critically analyze information and has problems applying knowledge to practice.

A grade of E means that the student fails in more than one of the assignments, lacks the ability to analyze and compare multiple pieces of knowledge, and fails to think critically and apply theoretical knowledge to practice, but is proficient in most of the theoretical knowledge in the course.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 100/0

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes:

Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

The aim of the training is for students to understand the differences between school integration and inclusion and to acquire relevant theoretical knowledge and practical skills related to the concept of Inclusive education for children with disabilities or with any social, cultural, linguistic, health and other disadvantages in mainstream education. The graduate will gain insight into the sociological critique of special pedagogy and the potential for using the knowledge of special pedagogy and various other pedagogical approaches in Inclusive education and be able to critically evaluate their usefulness or, conversely, their risks. The student will also be briefly acquainted with the specifics of education (with regard to individual disabilities or disadvantages) in the mainstream school system. They will also be able to assess, analyse and compare information, be able to think critically and evaluate individual examples of good practice and generalise knowledge.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

1. Defining Inclusive education and the arguments for and against Inclusive education;
2. Disability and ethnicity as social constructs;
3. The difference between inclusion and integration;
4. The relationship of Inclusive education to special education;
5. Inclusion index and teacher collaboration;

6. The inclusion index and collaboration with parents as a tool for inclusion;
7. National and international legal documents on Inclusive education;
8. Systemic mechanisms leading to segregation of children with special educational needs and Roma children;
9. Examples of good practice of inclusive schools in Slovakia;
10. Examples of good practice in Inclusive education: the Dalton Plan and Inclusive education; Maria Montessori pedagogy and Inclusive education; Susan Kovalik's Integrated Thematic Teaching and Inclusive education; other alternative pedagogical approaches and Inclusive education.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2022/2023
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KPg/M-VUZde014/22	Course title: Inclusive education
Educational activities: Type of activities: seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 1., 3.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: The course ends with an assessment, weighting of the interim and final assessment 100/0 - participation in class or active involvement in discussions (30 points); - group presentation of a selection of topics (30 points) The individual groups will be divided according to the following topics: 1) Inclusive education and the Dalton Plan; 2) Inclusive education and Maria Montessori's Pedagogy; 3) Inclusive education and Susan Kovalik's Integrated Thematic Teaching; 4) Inclusive education and another alternative pedagogical approach of their choice. Each group has to present in an engaging way a general description of the chosen pedagogical approach; present several concrete examples of pedagogical or didactic activities from this approach; demonstrate at least one activity (relevant for the 2nd grade of primary or secondary school) in the classroom; evaluate the usefulness and relevance of this approach for Inclusive education; provide basic information about schools in Slovakia that apply these pedagogical approaches in practice. - group seminar paper on the topic of the presentation (40 points) The seminar paper will be co-authored by all members of the group who will present on the topic. The assignment is to present (approx. 10 standard pages) the pedagogical approach about which the group presented in class and analytically and critically evaluate its usefulness in pedagogical practice in relation to Inclusive education with a focus on the second level of primary and/or secondary schools in the Slovak Republic, or to discuss its advantages, disadvantages and limitations. It is to be a seminar paper based on a critical analysis of the literature. It should therefore not be exclusively descriptive work, but also analytical. The aim is to critically and argumentatively evaluate the usefulness of the approach in relation to Inclusive education. One of the criteria of the thesis is coherence, i.e. the unity of the thesis as a whole. The rating is awarded on a scale: A 100 - 91% (excellent - outstanding results), B 90 - 81% (very good - above average standard), C 80 - 73% (good - normal reliable operation), D 72 - 66% (satisfactory - acceptable results), E 65 - 60% (sufficient - results meet minimum criteria),

Fx 59% or less (insufficient).

A minimum of 91 points is required for a final grade A, a minimum of 81 points for a grade B, a minimum of 73 points for a grade C, a minimum of 66 points for a grade D and a minimum of 60 points for a grade E. To pass the course, a minimum of 60% of the marks must be obtained.

For a grade of A, the student needs to produce consistently excellent results, be capable of independent study, and be able to reflect on the problems presented. The student can critically evaluate the information presented, identify problems and propose original solutions, can select relevant sources for his/her studies, can analyse and select professional or scientific information, is familiar with theoretical and empirical knowledge in the field of Inclusive education and can apply it in his/her pedagogical practice. At the same time, students are able to work in a team and collaborate on assignments.

A grade of B means that the student achieved above average results throughout the semester, was able to study independently, knows basic information about Inclusive education, can navigate the literature, and can apply the knowledge gained to practice in working with children and students, but there are also shortcomings in his critical and creative thinking. At the same time, students are able to work in a team and collaborate on assignments.

A grade of C means that the student has performed standardly well during the semester, his or her theoretical knowledge of the subject is at a good level, but the ability to apply this knowledge, critically evaluate and compare individual literary sources is lacking. There are more weaknesses in critical and inductive thinking as well as in group work.

The grade D means that the student was less prepared during the semester, has slight deficiencies in theoretical knowledge related to the subject of education and has more problems in independent implementation work, as well as in group work, cannot critically analyze information and has problems applying knowledge to practice.

A grade of E means that the student fails in more than one of the assignments, lacks the ability to analyze and compare multiple pieces of knowledge, and fails to think critically and apply theoretical knowledge to practice, but is proficient in most of the theoretical knowledge in the course.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 100/0

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes:

Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

The aim of the training is for students to understand the differences between school integration and inclusion and to acquire relevant theoretical knowledge and practical skills related to the concept of Inclusive education for children with disabilities or with any social, cultural, linguistic, health and other disadvantages in mainstream education. The graduate will gain insight into the sociological critique of special pedagogy and the potential for using the knowledge of special pedagogy and various other pedagogical approaches in Inclusive education and be able to critically evaluate their usefulness or, conversely, their risks. The student will also be briefly acquainted with the specifics of education (with regard to individual disabilities or disadvantages) in the mainstream school system. They will also be able to assess, analyse and compare information, be able to think critically and evaluate individual examples of good practice and generalise knowledge.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

1. Defining Inclusive education and the arguments for and against Inclusive education;
2. Disability and ethnicity as social constructs;
3. The difference between inclusion and integration;
4. The relationship of Inclusive education to special education;
5. Inclusion index and teacher collaboration;

6. The inclusion index and collaboration with parents as a tool for inclusion;
7. National and international legal documents on Inclusive education;
8. Systemic mechanisms leading to segregation of children with special educational needs and Roma children;
9. Examples of good practice of inclusive schools in Slovakia;
10. Examples of good practice in Inclusive education: the Dalton Plan and Inclusive education; Maria Montessori pedagogy and Inclusive education; Susan Kovalik's Integrated Thematic Teaching and Inclusive education; other alternative pedagogical approaches and Inclusive education.

Total 52 hours of student work. Learning methods: monological, dialogical, practical, guided self-study
Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 1.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: The student will be evaluated continuously in the form of 3 practical outcomes. Two practical outcomes with a value of 30 points will take place during the semester, the third with a value of 40 points at the end of the semester. Practical outcomes consist of a rehearsed repertoire of up to 10 minutes and a pedagogical interpretation of the rehearsed works. A minimum of 91 points is required for an A grade, a minimum of 81 points for a B grade, a minimum of 73 points for a C grade, a minimum of 66 points for a D grade, and a minimum of 60 points for an E grade. The grade is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding) B (90-81%, very good - above average standard) C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work) D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results) E (65-60%, satisfactory - results meet minimum criteria) Fx (59-0%, inadequate - extra work required) A - excellent performance, the student masters the basic theoretical concepts and technical elements based on individual musical abilities and aptitudes, he/she can practically apply what he/she has learned;

B - excellent performance, the student masters the basic theoretical concepts and technical elements on the basis of individual musical abilities and aptitudes, but slight deficiencies are observed in practical performance;
 C - good performance, the student has mastered the knowledge, but can only partially apply what he/she has learned to practice - the practical performance shows deficiencies;
 D - acceptable performance, the student has only partially acquired the knowledge, there are major deficiencies in the subject matter, he/she cannot apply what he/she has learned in practice - the practical performance shows major deficiencies;
 E - minimally acceptable performance, the student has acquired knowledge minimally, he/she cannot transfer it adequately into practice - significant deficiencies are observed in practical performance;
 Fx - unacceptable performance, the student has not sufficiently mastered the content of education, or has not fulfilled the conditions set by the teacher during the semester.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes: The student develops his/her performance and pedagogical skills through the exploration of domestic and foreign literature for instrumental ensembles of various types of smaller and larger ensembles. Through practical study of compositions from earlier historical periods, the student develops the ability to work with an instrumental ensemble. At the same time, the student learns to think analytically, to identify performance problems, and to choose the correct methods for solving musical and technical problems.

Class syllabus:

Course outcomes of subject (content):

Seminars focused on interpretation in instrumental ensemble. Study of compositions of different historical periods. Study of chamber compositions intended for children in the first and second stages of primary school. Acquiring spontaneous and relaxed performance in instrumental ensembles of various types. Pedagogical analysis of interpreted compositions.

Recommended literature:

Compulsory/Recommended readings:

The literature will be adapted to the capabilities of the ensemble, drawing on compositions from different historical periods such as:

Course requirements: Course completion requirements: The student will be assessed continuously in the form of 3 practical outcomes. Two practical outcomes with a value of 30 points will take place during the semester, the third with a value of 40 points at the end of the semester. Practical outcomes consist of a rehearsed repertoire of up to 10 minutes and a pedagogical interpretation of the rehearsed works. A minimum of 91 points is required for an A grade, a minimum of 81 points for a B grade, a minimum of 73 points for a C grade, a minimum of 66 points for a D grade, and a minimum of 60 points for an E grade. The grade is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding) B (90-81%, very good - above average standard) C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work) D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results) E (65-60%, satisfactory - results meet minimum criteria) Fx (59-0%, inadequate - extra work required) A - excellent performance, the student masters the basic theoretical concepts and technical elements based on individual musical abilities and aptitudes, he/she can practically apply what he/she has learned;

B - excellent performance, the student masters the basic theoretical concepts and technical elements on the basis of individual musical abilities and aptitudes, but slight deficiencies are observed in practical performance; C - good performance, the student has mastered the knowledge, but can only partially apply what he/she has learned to practice - the practical performance shows deficiencies; D - acceptable performance, the student has only partially acquired the knowledge, there are major deficiencies in the subject matter, he/she cannot apply what he/she has learned in practice - the practical performance shows major deficiencies; E - minimally acceptable performance, the student has acquired knowledge minimally, he/she cannot transfer it adequately into practice - significant deficiencies are observed in practical performance; Fx - unacceptable performance, the student has not sufficiently mastered the content of education, or has not fulfilled the conditions set by the teacher during the semester.
Learning outcomes: Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes: The student continues to develop his/her performance and pedagogical skills through domestic and foreign literature intended for instrumental ensembles of various types of smaller and larger ensembles. Focuses on the study of 20th and 21st century music repertoire designed for elementary education. At the same time, the student continues to work analytically with musical text and gains the ability to independently solve basic problems of playing in an instrumental ensemble. By studying different types of compositions, the student will gain the necessary knowledge for his/her future pedagogical activity.
Class syllabus: Course outcomes of subject (content): Seminars focused on chamber music performance. Study of chamber music compositions of different historical periods. Study of chamber music for children in the first and second stages of primary school. Acquisition of spontaneous and relaxed performance in chamber ensembles of various types. Pedagogical analysis of interpreted compositions.
Recommended literature: Recommended readings: The literature will be adapted to the capabilities of the ensemble, drawing on compositions from different historical periods such as: VIVALDI, A. Recommended semester: 1.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Recommended prerequisites: none
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: Continuous assessment (100%): Presentation (25 points/25%) and progress test (75 points/75%) OR Project (25 points/25%) and progress test (75 points/75%) The student, in cooperation with the teacher, chooses the method of continuous assessment: presentation of the selected topic in the form of a ppt presentation and guided discussion on the topic, during which he/she presents a topic with sources, displays presentation skills in English and the ability to manage the discussion and a progress test, or: Project design and a progress test during the semester. In the presentation, the student orally presents the didactic processing of the given topic. In the project, the student presents a written didactic application of the topic. The progress test is aimed at determining the theoretical knowledge and the ability to apply it practically to a selected social phenomenon of Anglophone culture, its critical evaluation and the creation of an attitude towards the topic, or creative application of the topic for the purposes of pedagogical application.

Grading:

100 – 95% A, 94 – 89% B, 88 – 83% C, 82 – 77% D, 76 – 70% E, 69%–0% FX

Grade A (excellent): The student masters the terminology of cultural studies (e.g. terms such as culture - open, closed; identity - personal, national, collective, etc.). He/she understands the historical and social context of English colonization in 19th century and its impact on world/Anglophone migration policy. He/she knows key works and personalities of the cultural life of the Anglophone world. He/she can comparatively evaluate key institutions and organizations of the Anglophone world (Great Britain, USA and Canada). He/she can apply all studied terms to a literary work, text or a cultural topic. In the presentation, he/she presents the selected topic without errors and inaccuracies, competently manages the discussion. In the project, he/she processes the selected topic in a visually attractive way in a visual and graphic way (e.g. as a poster) and prepares a lesson plan for the given topic, meeting didactic requirements.

Grade B (very good): The student has mastered the essential knowledge of the discipline and can apply all studied terms to a cultural topic. In the presentation, he/she presents the selected topic without significant errors and inaccuracies, competently manages the discussion. In the project, he/she processes the selected topic in an attractive visual and graphic way (e.g. as a poster) and prepares a lesson plan for the given topic, meeting didactic requirements. In the presentation, he/she presents the selected topic with a minimum of errors and inaccuracies, competently manages the discussion).

Grade C (good): The student has mastered the essential knowledge of the discipline and can apply all studied terms to a cultural topic. In the project, he/she presents the selected topic in a visual and graphic way (e.g. as a poster) and prepare a lesson plan for the given topic, generally meeting didactic requirements. In the presentation, he/she presents the selected topic with few errors and inaccuracies, satisfactorily manages the discussion).

Grade D (satisfactory): The student has mastered the essential knowledge of the discipline and can apply all studied terms to a cultural topic. In the project, he/she can present the selected topic in a graphically unattractive way and prepare a lesson plan for the given topic, which, however, does not meet several didactic requirements. In the presentation, he presents the selected topic with several errors, typos, inaccuracies and manages the discussion less effectively).

Grade E (sufficient): The student has mastered the essential knowledge of the discipline and can apply all studied terms to a cultural topic. In the project, he/she processes the selected topic in a graphically unattractive way and prepares a lesson plan for the given topic, which does not meet numerous didactic requirements, is dull and uninventive. In the presentation, he presents the selected topic unsatisfactorily, he/she manages the discussion ineffectively).

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (100%): Presentation (25 points/25%) and progress test (75 points/75%) OR Project (25 points/25%) and progress test (75 points/75%) The student, in cooperation with the teacher, chooses the method of continuous assessment: presentation of the selected topic in the form of a ppt presentation and guided discussion on the topic, during which he/she presents a topic with sources, displays presentation skills in English and the ability to manage the discussion and a progress test, or: Project design and a progress test during the semester. In the presentation, the student orally presents the didactic processing of the given topic. In the project, the student presents a written didactic application of the topic. The progress test is aimed at determining the theoretical knowledge and the ability to apply it practically to a selected social phenomenon of Anglophone culture, its critical evaluation and the creation of an attitude towards the topic, or creative application of the topic for the purposes of pedagogical application.

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

This course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences, as stipulated in the graduate profile (part: goals of education):

Knowledge:

The student...:

- is aware of the core knowledge of the discipline “Intercultural Studies” and intercultural approach in language education, and in context-related information,
- understands the principles upon which migration occurs, as well as multiculturalism, “otherness” and other related terms: culture shock, racism, positive and negative discrimination, etc.,
- is aware of the strategies of teaching in a multicultural class (fair representation, etc.), development of language and literature,
- can interpret, explicate and compare studied works, can synthesize from various sources, and implement these to the process of teaching,
- is aware of the pedagogical context of literature and implementation of literature to EFL teaching,
- can apply the terminology to a specific text and plan a lesson where language is taught as a part of culture.

Skills:

The student...:

- is able to use artistic (primary) and academic (secondary) literary sources, can also use artistic literature and authentic materials, and use them for the purposes of EFL teaching,
- can analyse, evaluate and create various teaching materials supporting the aim of the lesson with regards to the specificity of various classes,
- can analyse the latest knowledge of the discipline, can apply analytical-critical and linguistic thinking, leading to creativity and empathy,
- is cultivating skills to communicate fluently on professional aspects of culture in English at C1 level,
- has acquired digital skills, can search for relevant information in the digital space and work in the digital learning environment Moodle, presentation skill and project designing skills.

Competences:

The student...:

- is able to argue, present and defend his/her opinions and positions, can communicate effectively in a group,
- can effectively communicate and solve professional problems as a part of team,
- has developed his/her metacognitive awareness, effectively guides his/her self-study, can respect psychic hygiene principles,
- knows how to autonomously plan and organize his/her education and can self-navigate his/her further education,
- can use information and communication technologies in EFL learning, in professional and other communication and in their further study,
- has acquired intercultural competences and competences for intercultural approach in EFL teaching,
- has gained prerequisites for his/her active involvement in professional life.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

Introduction to intercultural studies, philosophy, content and methods of the cultural studies. Terminology of cultural studies: identity, culture, otherness, intercultural competence, sensitivity and cultural intelligence. Teaching strategies in a multicultural classroom, intercultural approach in language education.

Cultural differences between Western countries and countries of the former Eastern bloc and didactic implementation of the topic.

What is culture shock and how to manage it? (includes didactic implementation of the topic).

Intercultural comparative studies - comparative analysis of the EU and North America (geography, politics, media, art) and didactic implementation of the topic.

The experience of otherness - migration, emigration, immigration through the eyes of Slovaks abroad - oral histories and artistic rendering of migration and didactic implementation of the topic.

Pedagogical implications of the subject, didactic implementation of culture-related topics.

Through the aforementioned subject contents and via the aforementioned educational methods, students acquire knowledge, develop their didactic skills and competences corresponding to the bachelor profile of a graduate in the study program English language and literature teaching (combination).

Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester: 1.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: The student is evaluated continuously during the practical implementation of analyses based on the knowledge acquired during the lecture. A total of 50 points can be obtained for the continuous assessment. The student's overall grade is the sum of the points obtained from the continuous assessment and the assessment of the presentation of the seminar paper (max. 25 points) of the final written test (max. 25 points). A total of at least 91 points is required for an A grade, at least 81 points for a B grade, at least 73 points for a C grade, at least 66 points for a D grade and at least 60 points for an E grade. The marks shall be awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, satisfactory - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, inadequate - extra work required) A - excellent performance, student knows basic concepts in the history of music analysis, can apply what is learned in theory to practice; critically evaluates; analyzes;

B - excellent performance, the student masters the basic concepts in the field of history of music analysis, however, when applying the knowledge to practice, slight deficiencies are observed - the student solves model situations with minor hesitations; critical thinking is borderline;

C - good performance, although the student has acquired knowledge in the field of the history of music analysis, but he/she can only partially apply what he/she has learned to practice; he/she has problems with complex problem solving;

D - acceptable performance, the student has only partially mastered the knowledge in the field of the history of music analysis, he/she has significant deficiencies in the problem, he/she cannot apply what he/she has learned in practice, he/she has problems solving model situations; his/her term paper meets the minimum criteria;

E - minimally acceptable performance, the student has acquired minimal knowledge in the field of the history of music analysis, he/she is unable to transfer it adequately into practice;

Fx - unacceptable performance, the student has not sufficiently mastered the knowledge in the field of the history of music analysis, or has not fulfilled the requirements set by the teacher during the semester.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes:

The student is introduced to the history of music analysis. The student is familiar with the typology, basic principles and working methods of music analysis. The student is able to apply them to an appropriate extent in the analysis of a musical work and its verbal interpretation for the needs of pedagogical practice.

Transferable competences:

The design of the course is based on the premise that musical analysis is a working method not only of the music theorist, but also of the music educator and the music performer. The purpose of musical analysis is to decipher the structure and reveal the inner qualities, patterns, essence and meaning of a musical work so that its music-theoretical, music-artistic and music-pedagogical interpretation is adequate. The course is an introduction to understanding the logic and essence of a musical work. It includes the history, theory, systematics, and methods of musical analysis. Specific analytical approaches, integrating knowledge from music history, music theory, music aesthetics, and music sociology, are demonstrated through selected examples from music history.

Class syllabus:

Course outcomes of subject (content):

1. Music analysis: brief history, basic terminology 2. Methodological background, methods, tools and techniques of music analysis (Riemann, Schenker, R  ti), graphical representation of music 3. Components of music: melody, rhythm, harmony, polyphony, dynamics, timbre, musical texture, musical forms 4. Motif-thematic analysis 6. Harmonic analysis (according to M. Filip) 7. Stylistic analysis 8. Complex analysis of a musical work according to M. Tomaszewski 9. Music and language (analogies, differences, possibilities of use), musical syntax (musica poetica, affect theory, musical topoi, introduction to semiotic analysis) 10. Introduction to the analysis of dodecaphonic structure 11. Use of musical analysis in the pedagogical process at different levels of (artistic) education

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2022/2023
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KPg/M-VUZde021/22	Course title: Learning theories and concepts of teaching
Educational activities: Type of activities: lecture + seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester: 1., 3.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: The weighting of the interim and final evaluation is 50/50. The course is completed by examination. As part of the interim assessment, students will produce interim work during the semester (basic principles of learning theories and concepts of teaching). Interim papers are assessed for 20 points. As part of the midterm assessment, students will develop and present a midterm paper - a conceptual design of a teaching unit using the chosen teaching concept - in a micro-exercise. The final thesis is assessed for 30 points. At the end of the semester, students will complete a colloquial assessment aimed at analysing, evaluating and critically assessing current didactic learning theories and teaching concepts. The final colloquium is assessed for 50 points. Interim, semester and final grades are included in the course grade. The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-94%, excellent - outstanding results), B (93-86%, very good - above average standard), C (85-76%, well - normal reliable work), D (75-68%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (67-60%, sufficient - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, insufficient - extra work required) The condition for successful completion of the course is obtaining at least 60 % of the maximum possible course grade. Characteristics of student performance: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding results) - the student knows, understands and can apply (not only basic) relevant professional terminology in the outputs, can analyze, synthesize and assess it (critically evaluate, develop, enrich with own ideas), is oriented in current learning theories and teaching concepts, can critically analyze and evaluate them. The student is able to critically, factually assess and evaluate solutions presented by others. B (90-81%, very good - above average standard) - the student knows, understands and can apply (not only basic) relevant professional terminology in the outputs, can critically evaluate, develop and enrich it with his/her own ideas, but only in specifically selected problems and not in a generalized way, is oriented in current learning theories and teaching concepts, can critically analyze and evaluate them.

C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work) - the student knows, understands and can apply at least the basic relevant professional terminology in the outputs, can apply it appropriately, but lacks development of his/her own ideas, applies it in specific, concrete and not generalizing contexts, is oriented in current learning theories and teaching concepts, but lacks critical evaluation.

D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results) - the student knows, understands and can apply at least the basic relevant professional terminology in the outputs, its correct application is limited and its development with own ideas is absent, the student applies it only in specific, concrete and not generalizing contexts, orientation in the current learning theories and teaching concepts, critical assessment and evaluation is completely absent.

E (65-60%, sufficient - results meet the minimum criteria) - the student has only a limited understanding and can apply the basic relevant professional terminology in the outputs, its application is limited to defined contexts in terms of correctness, there is no critical analysis and development of own ideas, orientation in current learning theories and teaching concepts is limited to specific areas, there is no critical evaluation and generalization.

Fx (59-0%, insufficient - additional work required) - student with significant limitations knows, understands, but cannot coherently apply (even basic) relevant professional terminology in the outcomes, its application is incoherent, limited to limited contexts, orientation in current learning theories and teaching concepts is incoherent, limited to specific areas, their generalizing application is absent.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 50/50

Learning outcomes:

Learning objectives and outcomes:

By completing the course, students will acquire knowledge about pedagogical theories, concepts of learning (to learn). Students will be able to use their knowledge of learning theories in planning and conducting a teaching unit. By completing the course, the student will be competent to carry out analytical, synthesizing and evaluative processes within the framework of (scientifically relevant - practice-supported) theories of didactics, processes of personal-professional development based on cognition and (self-)reflection, will know and be able to apply (in specific micro-course outcomes) the theories, concepts, resources, strategies and methods necessary for this.

Transferable competences:

In solving, presenting and discussing the results of the continuous and semester assignments, students will develop their analytical and critical thinking, communication, lecturing and metacognitive skills. Students will be able to use the acquired knowledge and competences creatively in the study of other pedagogical disciplines and in their future pedagogical practice. Students will know and be able to apply theories, concepts, strategies and methods for the continuous development of intra and interpersonal communicative, organizational, (self-)cognitive competences.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

The contents of the course are theories of learning, which can be understood as the basis for the design of teaching in which learning will take place. After an introduction to the learning process, students will be introduced to associative learning theory, behavioural theories of learning, constructivist theories and social learning theories. For each theory, the focus will be on the actual application of knowledge to the planning and delivery of instruction. Students will understand the basic principles and be able to identify and analyse different theories in terms of school and didactic practice.

In addition to traditional theories of learning and concepts of teaching, students will also become familiar with current and alternative theories of the 20th and 21st centuries, which can be classified as modern approaches in education in the theoretical background of Slovak and foreign authors.

Topics:

1. An introduction to learning theories and concepts of teaching. Basic concepts, terminology. Overview of all learning theories.
2. Selected teaching concepts. Introduction to the concepts of teaching; Verbal-narrative teaching; Problem-based teaching; Cooperative teaching; Constructivist and constructionist concepts of teaching; Constructivism and constructionism as a theory of cognition; Foundations of constructivism/constructionism and socio-cognitive constructivism/constructionism in the theories of J. Piaget and L. S. Vygotsky, K.R. Popper. Didactic application in teaching.
3. Transmission versus construction in the implementation of instruction. Basic features of two antagonistic approaches to teaching - Behaviorism vs. constructivism; Deductive, inductive and participatory approaches in teaching.
4. Modern approaches in education - strategies and methods The concept of activating teaching methods; Classification of teaching methods and their characteristics - logical learning procedures; Characteristics of selected methods, Determination of the optimal choice of methods.
5. A review of current and alternative learning theories.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2022/2023
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KPg/M-VUZde021/22	Course title: Learning theories and concepts of teaching
Educational activities: Type of activities: lecture + seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester: 2., 4.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: The weighting of the interim and final evaluation is 50/50. The course is completed by examination. As part of the interim assessment, students will produce interim work during the semester (basic principles of learning theories and concepts of teaching). Interim papers are assessed for 20 points. As part of the midterm assessment, students will develop and present a midterm paper - a conceptual design of a teaching unit using the chosen teaching concept - in a micro-exercise. The final thesis is assessed for 30 points. At the end of the semester, students will complete a colloquial assessment aimed at analysing, evaluating and critically assessing current didactic learning theories and teaching concepts. The final colloquium is assessed for 50 points. Interim, semester and final grades are included in the course grade. The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-94%, excellent - outstanding results), B (93-86%, very good - above average standard), C (85-76%, well - normal reliable work), D (75-68%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (67-60%, sufficient - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, insufficient - extra work required) The condition for successful completion of the course is obtaining at least 60 % of the maximum possible course grade. Characteristics of student performance: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding results) - the student knows, understands and can apply (not only basic) relevant professional terminology in the outputs, can analyze, synthesize and assess it (critically evaluate, develop, enrich with own ideas), is oriented in current learning theories and teaching concepts, can critically analyze and evaluate them. The student is able to critically, factually assess and evaluate solutions presented by others. B (90-81%, very good - above average standard) - the student knows, understands and can apply (not only basic) relevant professional terminology in the outputs, can critically evaluate, develop and enrich it with his/her own ideas, but only in specifically selected problems and not in a generalized way, is oriented in current learning theories and teaching concepts, can critically analyze and evaluate them.

C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work) - the student knows, understands and can apply at least the basic relevant professional terminology in the outputs, can apply it appropriately, but lacks development of his/her own ideas, applies it in specific, concrete and not generalizing contexts, is oriented in current learning theories and teaching concepts, but lacks critical evaluation.

D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results) - the student knows, understands and can apply at least the basic relevant professional terminology in the outputs, its correct application is limited and its development with own ideas is absent, the student applies it only in specific, concrete and not generalizing contexts, orientation in the current learning theories and teaching concepts, critical assessment and evaluation is completely absent.

E (65-60%, sufficient - results meet the minimum criteria) - the student has only a limited understanding and can apply the basic relevant professional terminology in the outputs, its application is limited to defined contexts in terms of correctness, there is no critical analysis and development of own ideas, orientation in current learning theories and teaching concepts is limited to specific areas, there is no critical evaluation and generalization.

Fx (59-0%, insufficient - additional work required) - student with significant limitations knows, understands, but cannot coherently apply (even basic) relevant professional terminology in the outcomes, its application is incoherent, limited to limited contexts, orientation in current learning theories and teaching concepts is incoherent, limited to specific areas, their generalizing application is absent.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 50/50

Learning outcomes:

Learning objectives and outcomes:

By completing the course, students will acquire knowledge about pedagogical theories, concepts of learning (to learn). Students will be able to use their knowledge of learning theories in planning and conducting a teaching unit. By completing the course, the student will be competent to carry out analytical, synthesizing and evaluative processes within the framework of (scientifically relevant - practice-supported) theories of didactics, processes of personal-professional development based on cognition and (self-)reflection, will know and be able to apply (in specific micro-course outcomes) the theories, concepts, resources, strategies and methods necessary for this.

Transferable competences:

In solving, presenting and discussing the results of the continuous and semester assignments, students will develop their analytical and critical thinking, communication, lecturing and metacognitive skills. Students will be able to use the acquired knowledge and competences creatively in the study of other pedagogical disciplines and in their future pedagogical practice. Students will know and be able to apply theories, concepts, strategies and methods for the continuous development of intra and interpersonal communicative, organizational, (self-)cognitive competences.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

The contents of the course are theories of learning, which can be understood as the basis for the design of teaching in which learning will take place. After an introduction to the learning process, students will be introduced to associative learning theory, behavioural theories of learning, constructivist theories and social learning theories. For each theory, the focus will be on the actual application of knowledge to the planning and delivery of instruction. Students will understand the basic principles and be able to identify and analyse different theories in terms of school and didactic practice.

In addition to traditional theories of learning and concepts of teaching, students will also become familiar with current and alternative theories of the 20th and 21st centuries, which can be classified as modern approaches in education in the theoretical background of Slovak and foreign authors.

Topics:

1. An introduction to learning theories and concepts of teaching. Basic concepts, terminology. Overview of all learning theories.
2. Selected teaching concepts. Introduction to the concepts of teaching; Verbal-narrative teaching; Problem-based teaching; Cooperative teaching; Constructivist and constructionist concepts of teaching; Constructivism and constructionism as a theory of cognition; Foundations of constructivism/constructionism and socio-cognitive constructivism/constructionism in the theories of J. Piaget and L. S. Vygotsky, K.R. Popper. Didactic application in teaching.
3. Transmission versus construction in the implementation of instruction. Basic features of two antagonistic approaches to teaching - Behaviorism vs. constructivism; Deductive, inductive and participatory approaches in teaching.
4. Modern approaches in education - strategies and methods The concept of activating teaching methods; Classification of teaching methods and their characteristics - logical learning procedures; Characteristics of selected methods, Determination of the optimal choice of methods.
5. A review of current and alternative learning theories.

Recommended prerequisites: M-ANGde001 Lexicology of the English Language
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: Continuous assessment (100 percent): 1. In-semester test (50%) 2. In-semester test (50%) Grading: 100 – 95% A, 94 – 89% B, 88 – 83% C, 82 – 77% D, 76 – 70% E, 69–0% FX Grade A (excellent): The student independently analyses an unfamiliar English text, can find different types of word formation in the text, can correctly determine the motivation of words, can correctly identify different types of semantic shifts in the text, can find and correctly classify words from a stylistic point of view, can find collocations and idioms in the text and correctly classify them. Grade B (very good): The student independently analyses an unfamiliar English text, can find different types of word formation in the text, can correctly determine the motivation of most words, correctly identifies several types of semantic shifts in the text, can find and correctly identify words from a stylistic point of view, can find collocations and idioms in the text and correctly classify them.

Grade C (good): The student analyses an unfamiliar English text relatively independently, can find different types of word formation in the text, can correctly determine the motivation of most words, can identify some types of semantic shifts in the text, can correctly classify some words from a stylistic point of view, can locate some collocations and idioms in the text and correctly classify them.

Grade D (satisfactory): The student analyses an unfamiliar English text relatively independently, can find basic types of word formation in the text, can determine the motivation of some words, can identify some types of semantic shifts in the text, can correctly classify some words from a stylistic point of view, can find some common collocations and idioms in the text and correctly classify them.

Grade E (sufficient): The student analyses an unfamiliar English text relatively independently, can find only basic types of word formation in the text, can determine the motivation of simpler words, can identify only common types of semantic shifts (metaphor, personification) in the text, can correctly classify some words from a stylistic point of view, can find some common collocations and idioms in the text and usually classify them correctly.

Assessment conditions:

Completion of the continuous assessment tests with any score is the prerequisite for the final continuous assessment. The student is allowed to ask for an extra date for the interim assessment tests (if he/she has not attended the assessment for medical or other serious reasons) but is not allowed to re-sit any of the tests.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (100 percent): 1. In-semester test (50%) 2. In-semester test (50%)

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate's profile, this course aims to acquire the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

The student is familiar with the types of English word formation and lexical motivations, knows the differences between morphemic and word-formation analysis of lexemes, has mastered the different types of meanings and semantic shifts, knows the basic paradigmatic relationships in vocabulary, has mastered the theoretical foundations of phraseology, and is familiar with the basic lexical differences between British and American English.

Skills:

The student can independently analyse an unfamiliar English text, can find different types of word formation in it, can determine the motivation of individual words, can identify the stylistic colouring of English lexemes, can determine the paradigmatic relations between the linguistic devices of the text, can find collocations and idioms in the text, can determine the geographical affiliation of the text.

Competences:

The student learns how to work independently and as a team, solving lexical problems and tasks, learns the basic strategies of linguistic analysis of the text and understands the essence of the relationship between the form, content and function of linguistic units, develops the ability to analyse and synthesize linguistic material, is able to search for and use digital resources and aids for his/her further independent professional development, is able to link the acquired theoretical knowledge with pedagogical practice.

Class syllabus:

Course contents: Main themes of the course: Definitions of the word, lexical motivation, morphemic and word-formative structure, word-formation processes, types of meaning, semantic shifts, paradigmatic lexical relations, stylistic classification of words, collocations and phrasemes, lexical and grammatical differences between British and American English. Through the above content the student learns to practically analyse an English text from a lexical point of view, the student understands the structural-functional characteristics of English vocabulary, develops his/her foreign language (especially lexical and semantic) skills and vocabulary at the C1 level, learns to work independently and in teams in order to solve lexical issues, learns to apply the acquired theoretical knowledge appropriately in pedagogical practice. correctly and unaided identifies sentence articles, is able to find and identify changes in the word sequence.

Grade B (very good): The student can sovereignly and independently analyse an unfamiliar text, he/she can find various word types in the text and correctly identify their grammatical categories, can correctly identify the morphematic structure of words, correctly identifies almost all phrases, correctly identifies various types of simple sentences and clauses in the text, can correctly identify sentence articles, can find and identify changes in word order.

Grade C (good): The student can analyse an unfamiliar text relatively independently, can find different word types in the text and correctly identify their grammatical categories with a minimum of errors, can correctly identify the morphematic structure of most words, correctly identifies most phrases, identifies different types of simple sentences and clauses in the text, can identify clause articles within a simple sentence, can find and identify changes in the word order.

Grade D (satisfactory): The student can analyse an unfamiliar text, can find different word types in a text and correctly identify most of their grammatical categories, can correctly identify the basic morphematic structure of most words, can identify phrases in a text, can identify some types of simple sentences and clauses, can correctly identify basic sentence articles within a simple sentence, can find changes in word order.

Grade E (sufficient): The student can analyse an unfamiliar text, can find different word types in a text and correctly identify some grammatical categories, can correctly identify the basic morphematic structure of words, can identify phrases in a text, can identify basic types of simple sentences and clauses, can correctly identify basic clause structures within a simple sentence, can find changes in word order.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (100 percent): 1st in-term test (50%) 2nd in-term test (50%)

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

Based on the objectives declared in the profile of a#graduate, this course aims for a student to develop the following knowledge, skills, and competences:

Knowledge:

The student knows the types of English word formation, knows the differences between morphematic and word-formation analysis of lexemes, has mastered the morphological and syntactic characteristics, knows the basic paradigmatic relations in vocabulary, knows the theoretical foundations of sentence structure, knows how to determine sentence articles, is oriented in the laws of the word sequence of an English sentence.

Skills:

The student is able to work independently with unfamiliar text, is able to analyse it, while actively using his/her speaking skills at C1 CEFR level. The student uses digital resources, actively searches for information and practical examples. Using the theory studied in previous courses, asks relevant questions, uses knowledge of the hierarchy of language units, using them to identify morphological and syntactic phenomena within a text.

Competences:

The student learns to work independently or in a group to solve linguistic problems and tasks, learns the basic strategies of linguistic analysis of a text and understands the nature of the relationship between form, content and function of linguistic units. They will be able to link the acquired theoretical knowledge with practice, learn how to use digital resources, actively search for suitable texts and examples for analysis from everyday practice on their own. The student will be able to communicate effectively in English, solve professional linguistic issues in a team and create the prerequisites for engaging in professional life in the field of foreign language education.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

Grammatical analysis of sentences, functional analysis of sentences, sentence condensation and word order, main features of contemporary English, comparison of English and Slovak language in text analysis.

Through the above content, the student learns to analyse different types of texts linguistically, with emphasis on morphological-syntactic and functional analysis, independently and in a group. The student understands the text as a cohesive whole while working with it as a source of grammatical structures to identify and analyse grammatical phenomena. He/she improves his/her expressive skills to be able to express himself/herself effectively and comprehensibly on relevant linguistic issues at C1 CEFR level, to be able to locate them in the text, to name them, to determine them, to analyse them. They learn to work independently and as a team to solve linguistic questions and problems, they learn to apply the acquired theoretical knowledge appropriately in pedagogical practice. Uses theoretical knowledge and practical skills to prevent inappropriate interference from the mother tongue.

Written lesson plan to hand in to the teacher prior to teaching. Final test (50 points/%) The final test is focused on the theoretical background of the issue and didactic procedures for using literature in EFL teaching, including relevant terminology. Grading: 100 – 95% A, 94 – 89% B, 88 – 83% C, 82 – 77% D, 76 – 70% E, 69–0% FX Grade A (excellent): The student is aware of theory and terminology necessary for implementation of a literary text (literary terms, genres, etc.) to EFL teaching and knows how to define a literary text and distinguish it from a non-literary one. He/she understands the historical and social context of its creation different genres of literary texts and the advantages and limits of their didactic applicability. He/she knows methods and rules of working with a literary text. He/she can apply all studied terms to a literary work and a text without errors and inaccuracies. He/she presents a lesson plan for the given topic that meets the didactic requirements.

Grade B (very good): The student is aware of the theory and terminology necessary for implementation of a literary text (literary terms, genres, etc.) to EFL teaching with minor errors, knows how to define a literary text and distinguish it from a non-literary one. He/she understands historical and social contexts of the emergence of various genres of literary texts and the advantages and limits of their didactic applicability. He/she is aware of the methods and rules of working with a literary text. He/she can apply all studied terms to a literary work and text with a small amount of unimportant inaccuracies. He/she presents a lesson plan for the given topic, meeting the didactic requirements.

C (good): The student mostly masters the theory and terminology necessary for implementation of a literary text (literary terms, genres, etc.) to EFL teaching, he/she knows some attributes for literary and non-literary text, partially understands historical and social the context of the emergence of different genres of literary texts and the advantages and limits of their didactic applicability. He/she knows several methods and rules for working with a literary text. He/she can apply some studied terms to a literary work, text, however, with a greater number of errors and inaccuracies. He/she can present a lesson plan for the given topic, meeting some didactic requirements.

Grade D (satisfactory): The student has an imperfect command of the theory and terminology necessary for implementation of a literary text (literary terms, genres, etc.) to EFL teaching, he/she knows only some attributes for a literary and non-literary text. He/she does not understand historical and social the context of the emergence of various genres of literary texts and the advantages and limits of their didactic applicability. He/she only knows some methods and rules for working with a literary text. He/she does not know how to creatively apply all studied terms to a literary work and text. In the presentation, he/she can only present dull and inadequate didactic methods for the use of the assigned literary text and topics of language education; moreover, he/she makes a lot of mistakes and inaccuracies. COURSE DESCRIPTION

University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KPg/M-VUZde002/22	Course title: Methodology of educational research
Educational activities: Type of activities: lecture + seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 1., 3.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: The course is completed with an assessment of: 100% of the intermediate assessment The interim evaluation includes the following: - semester work in the form of a subject portfolio: proposal (design) of educational research of a quantitative or qualitative nature - 45 points, - assessment of knowledge and selected competences in the form of a written test - 55 points. The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-94%, excellent - excellent results with only minimal errors), B (93-86%, very good - above average results with minor errors), C (85-76%, good - normal reliable work, average results), D (75-68%, satisfactory - acceptable results, but significant errors occur), E (67-60%, sufficient - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, insufficient - extra work required). For successful completion of the course it is necessary to obtain at least 60% of the points. A minimum of 91 points is required for a final grade of A. For this grade, the student should demonstrate: a creative and original approach in the development of intermediate assignments, excellent professional knowledge and its application in problem solving, excellent orientation in the subject matter, excellent communication skills, responsibility and timely completion of assignments, exceptional activity in the classroom during the semester. A score of at least 81 points is required for a final grade of B. For this grade, the student should demonstrate: a creative approach in developing ongoing assignments using a model, above average expertise and application of that expertise in problem solving using tutorials, above average orientation to the problem, above average communication skills, responsibility and timely completion of assignments, above average activity in class during the semester. A minimum of 73 points is required for a final grade of C. For this grade, the student should demonstrate: the ability to develop intermediate assignments using the given template, good professional knowledge and its application in solving problem problems in a group or with the help of the instructor, good orientation in the subject matter, good communication skills, completion of the assigned tasks, average activity in class during the semester when prompted by the instructor.A minimum of 66 points is required for a final grade of D. For this grade, the student is expected to demonstrate: the ability to develop intermediate assignments using a given template and with the assistance of the instructor, average proficiency and application in problem solving in a group setting or with the assistance of the instructor, average orientation to the subject matter, average communication skills, completion of assignments, and basic activity in the classroom during the semester in collaboration with the instructor or other students.

A score of at least 60 points is required for a final grade of E. For this assessment, the student should demonstrate: the ability to develop continuous assignments and with the help of the instructor, basic/minimal professional knowledge, basic/minimal orientation to the subject matter, basic communication skills, completion of assigned tasks.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 50/50

Learning outcomes:

Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

Students will acquire knowledge of the fundamentals of educational research, become familiar with the basic concepts and theoretical-methodological knowledge necessary for designing (planning, implementing and evaluating) in the field of educational research. On a theoretical-empirical level, in the framework of the analysis of individual quantitative and qualitative tools, methods and techniques, they will acquire the knowledge and competences necessary for planning, conducting and evaluating pedagogical research of a quantitative and qualitative nature. Students will acquire the competences to solve and resolve problems in the field of research.

The course develops students' analytical, critical, evaluative, contextual and creative thinking and reasoning in context. In terms of self-reflection, the student is able to evaluate and assess his/her own availability to carry out pedagogical research.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

Science and research. Types of research. Validity, reliability and objectivity/objective truth. Subjectivity/subjective truth. Ethical aspects of research. Subjects in research and their specificities. Quantitative and qualitative oriented educational research. Intentions, subjects and objects in pedagogical research, principles in scientific research, observed phenomena and conditions for the implementation of quantitative and qualitatively oriented pedagogical research.

Scientific hypotheses and variables for quantifying the phenomena under study. Operationalization of variables.

Questionnaire design, implementation and evaluation.

Assessment scales - typology, creation and evaluation.

The sociometry method and the measurement of social climate.

Interview design and use. Differences between quantitative and qualitative interviews.

Quantitative and qualitative observation in scientific research.

Content analysis of documents from a quantitative and qualitative point of view.

Data processing, data analysis and interpretation. Statistical-mathematical procedures and triangulation processes. Dissemination of findings. Study design/design

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate profile, this course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

Students become familiar with the major English works of ethnic, racial, and gender minorities written in the 20th century and with the basic discourses of the minority ethnic status in Anglophone societies; they understand the role and significance of these works in cultural and literary theoretical contexts, are aware of intercultural contexts, know strategies to use literary texts in teaching, and know how to incorporate various media forms in the classroom.

Skills:

Students are able to critically analyse works, the relevant social and historical contexts, and are able to select minority works appropriately in relation to the teaching objectives in order to show the diversity of literary expression to primary and secondary school pupils and thus enable them to self-reflect. Students will appropriately apply literary texts as an innovative method of student-centred teaching in the EFL lesson plans for any selected ISCED and CEFR language level, using a variety of appropriate learning tasks and organisational forms of teaching. Students develop broader analytical skills, are able to discuss independently, in pairs and in groups. They can make use of the possibilities of digital technologies in foreign language education.

Competences:

Students are able to argue, present, and defend their views and opinions, are able to critically approach written texts and think critically about basic psychological, social, and cultural issues that affect not only their own experience, but also their identity as a competent, knowledgeable, perceptive, and understanding teacher of primary and secondary education in Slovakia

Class syllabus:

Course contents

Main themes of the course:

Introduction to minority literature: the postcolonial and postmodern discourse, the case of British and American literature (similarities and differences)

Minority ethnic literature in the USA: African-American literature, Hispanic literature, Asian-American literature

Minority ethnic literature in the UK: Authors of Caribbean, Indian, Pakistani and African backgrounds

Minority ethnic literature and gender issues

Through the above course contents and methods of education, the student acquires knowledge, develops his/her didactic skills, and competences corresponding to the profile of a graduate of the Master's degree in the study programme of Teaching of English Language and Literature in Combination.

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate profile, this course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

Students will be familiar with canonical texts of twentieth-century American literature. Students become aware of the socio-political contexts of seminal American works. Students will understand the development of the literary genres of poetry, prose, and drama in modern American literature and know about the principles and strategies of the analysis of American literary text. Students understand the role and significance of these works in cultural studies and literary theoretical contexts. Students will learn strategies of using literary texts in English language teaching and of incorporating various media forms in the classroom.

Skills:

Students critically analyse works and their social and cultural contexts to reflect on individual and pedagogical needs. Students will be able to select quality works appropriately in relation to instructional objectives to expose elementary and middle school students to a variety of literary expression and thereby enable them to self-reflect. Students will also be able to appropriately apply a variety of media representations of literary works to the EFL lesson plan as an innovative method of student-centred learning for any ISCED and any CEFR language level, using a variety of appropriate learning tasks and organisational forms of teaching. Students develop broader analytical skills and will be able to discuss independently, in pairs and in groups.

Competences:

Students will be able to argue, present, and defend their views and opinions. Students critically engage with written texts and think critically about basic psychological, social, and cultural issues that are relevant not only for their own experience, but also for their identity as competent, knowledgeable, responsive, and understanding teachers in Slovak primary and secondary education representing a humanistic approach to pupils.

Class syllabus:

Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester: 1.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: The course assessment is divided into three phases. During the semester, the student will prepare and publicly present a seminar paper on a chosen topic, which will be graded on a scale of 0-25 points. In addition, he/she will take a sound test (score scale 0 - 25 points) of the repertoire of pieces presented under each of the thematic headings. At the end of the semester, the student will take an oral examination graded on a scale of 0-50 points. The overall grade is obtained by summation. A grade of A requires at least 91 points, a grade of B requires at least 81 points, a grade of C requires at least 73 points, a grade of D requires at least 66 points, and a grade of E requires at least 60 points. The grade is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, satisfactory - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, inadequate - extra work required)

A - excellent performance, student has mastery of basic concepts in 20th century music, can apply what he/she has learned in theory to practice; term paper meets all established criteria; critically evaluated; seamless mastery of the sound test from the established repertoire;

B - excellent performance, the student masters the basic concepts, but slight deficiencies are observed in the application of knowledge to practice - solves model situations with minor hesitations; slight deficiencies are observed in the seminar work; critical thinking is borderline; mastery of the sound test from the set repertoire with deficiencies due to uncertainty

C - good performance, the student has acquired the knowledge, but can only partially apply what he/she has learned to practice; he/she has problems with complex problem solving, the seminar work has shortcomings; partial mastery of the sound test from the set repertoire

D - acceptable performance, the student has only partially mastered the knowledge, he/she has significant deficiencies in the problem, he/she cannot apply what he/she has learnt in practice, he/she has problems solving model situations; his/her seminar work meets the minimum criteria; mastery of the sound test from the set repertoire with more serious deficiencies, with incomplete sound analysis

E - minimally acceptable performance; the student has acquired minimal knowledge and cannot transfer it adequately into practice;

Fx - unacceptable performance, the student has not sufficiently mastered the content of the training, or has not fulfilled the conditions set by the teacher during the semester.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes:

The student will gain a basic overview of 20th century music. The course focuses on the history of musical culture (music as a social phenomenon within general history and the history of art) and on the forms, transformations and significance of historical musical styles, noting and learning to understand their interrelationships. Particular emphasis is placed on learning about the history of musical culture in the territory of today's Slovakia and understanding its specifics in a broader international context.

Transferable competences:

Lectures integrate knowledge of music history, music aesthetics, and music theory, broaden cultural insight, strengthen historical awareness, accentuate students' listening experience, and lead them to the ability to independently, creatively handle, interpret, and verbalize the acquired knowledge. Wherever possible, links to pedagogical practice at different levels of arts education and an active approach to music are emphasised.

Course ID: PdF.KHV/M-KHVde004/22	Course title: Organology and Musical Accoustics
Educational activities: Type of activities: lecture Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Type, volume, methods and workload of the student - additional information Type of activities, scope (number of hours) and methods of educational activities: Scope, type/method of teaching and organizational form: Form of teaching : lecture, combined form (primarily face-to-face) Recommended scope of teaching (in hours): Weekly :2 Over the study period: 22 hours Student workload 22 hours of direct teaching; 19 hours for continuous assessment, 19 hours for evaluation, total 60 hours of student work Teaching methods: monological, discussion of the material covered
Recommended semester: 2.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Course completion requirements: The student is evaluated continuously during the practical implementation of the analyses based on the knowledge acquired during the lecture. A total of 50 points can be obtained for the continuous assessment. The student's overall grade is the sum of the points obtained in the continuous assessment and the grade of the final written test (max. 50 points). A minimum of 91 points is required for an A grade, a minimum of 81 points for a B grade, a minimum of 73 points for a C grade, a minimum of 66 points for a D grade and a minimum of 60 points for an E grade. The marks are awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding) B (90-81%, very good - above average standard) C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work) D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results) E (65-60%, satisfactory - results meet minimum criteria) Fx (59-0%, inadequate - extra work required) A - excellent performance, the student knows the basic concepts of organology and musical acoustics, can apply what he/she has learned in theory to practice; critically evaluates, analyzes;

B - excellent performance, the student masters the basic concepts of organology and musical acoustics, however, when applying the knowledge to practice there are slight deficiencies - he/she solves model situations with minor hesitations; critical thinking is borderline;

C - good performance, although the student has acquired knowledge in the field of organology and musical acoustics, but he can only partially apply what he has learned to practice; he has problems with complex problem solving;

D - acceptable performance, the student has only partially mastered the knowledge in the field of organology and musical acoustics, he/she has significant deficiencies in the problem, he/she cannot apply what he/she has learned in practice, he/she has problems solving model situations; his/her term paper meets the minimum criteria;

E - minimally acceptable performance, the student has acquired minimal knowledge in the field of organology and musical acoustics, he/she is unable to transfer it adequately into practice;

Fx - unacceptable performance, the student has not sufficiently mastered the knowledge in the field of organology and musical acoustics, or has not fulfilled the conditions set by the teacher during the semester.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes:

The student will gain basic knowledge of musical acoustics and organology. The student will become familiar with the Hornbostel-Sachs systematics of musical instruments and will gain an overview of musical instruments in terms of their acoustic basis, construction and function.

Transferable competencies:

Upon completion of the lectures, the student will gain an expanding cultural overview, enhance historical awareness, accentuate the listening experience, and lead students to the ability to independently and creatively manipulate the knowledge they have acquired. An active approach to music and connections to pedagogical practice at various levels of arts education are emphasized.

Class syllabus:

Course outcomes of subject (content):

The sound, the tone. Pitch and strength of tone as objective quantities. Musical instrument and its acoustic nature. Vibration of the string, formation of a standing wave, wavelength and frequency. Higher harmonics, acoustic spectra. Sound colour as an objective quantity. Factors of sound colour. Vibration of the air column, types of air columns. Friction tones. Tuning. Consonance and small numbers. Consonance theory. Pythagorean, natural, unequal and equal tempered tunings. Systematics of musical instruments.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2022/2023
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KPg/M-VUZde017/22	Course title: Personal and social development
Educational activities: Type of activities: seminar Number of hours: per week: per level/semester: 24s Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 1., 3.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisite subjects: none Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: 100% of the continuous assessment, the course is completed by assessment. Continuous assessment includes the evaluation of the performance of continuous tasks and assignments, which are carried out individually or in groups at different stages of the course implementation. Individual assignments focus on the preparation of materials and the development of assignments on which direct teaching will be based. This involves working with various questionnaires and tests, information sources (publications aimed at developing pupils' social-psychological competences) and official school documents (30% of the assessment). Within the group work, space is devoted to specific exercises and simulation of experiential learning in teachers' work (30%) and to the analysis of the objectives, meaning, methods of the cross-cutting theme of Personal and Social Development and its integration into selected educational areas (30%). A reflective essay concludes the continuous assessment (10% of the assessment). The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding results), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, satisfactory - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, inadequate - extra work required). For successful completion of the course it is necessary to obtain at least 60% of the points. A grade A is awarded if the student has acquired knowledge related to the content of the cross-cutting theme, is familiar with methods, techniques and other specifics related to the field of experiential and active social learning, actively engages in individual activities and shows interest and effort to develop his/her competences in the identified key areas, seeks original and creative solutions to the tasks set, reflects the emerging changes that experiential learning brings, manifests himself/herself as a full member of the group and actively expresses his/her own opinion. A B grade is awarded if the student has acquired knowledge related to the content of the cross-cutting theme, is familiar with the methods, techniques and other specifics related to the field of experiential and active social learning, actively engages in individual activities and shows interest and effort to develop his/her competences in the identified key areas, to a lesser extent, seeks original and creative solutions to the tasks set, reflects the emerging changes that experiential learning brings but needs more time and space to verbalise them, shows himself as a full member of the group and actively expresses his own opinion.

Grade C will be awarded to a student who has acquired the knowledge related to the content of the cross-cutting topic at an average level, is familiar with the methods, techniques and other specifics related to the field of experiential and active social learning, is usually actively involved in individual activities, shows interest and effort to develop his/her competences, only in some topics and areas, makes little use of his/her personal qualities in finding original and creative solutions to the tasks set, reflects only to some extent the emerging changes brought about by experiential learning, shows himself/herself to be a full member of the group and actively expresses his/her own opinion.

A grade D is awarded if the student has acquired basic knowledge related to the content of the cross-cutting theme, is generally familiar with the methods, techniques and other specifics related to the field of experiential and active social learning, engages to a limited extent in individual activities, and shows only sporadic interest and effort to develop his/her competencies, often only with external help, seeks original and creative solutions to the tasks set, cannot adequately reflect the emerging changes brought about by experiential learning, is more passive and more like a marginal member of the group, even though he or she actively expresses his or her own opinion.

A student receives a grade of E if the student has mastered the basic knowledge related to the content of the cross-cutting topic and is at least partially oriented in the methods, techniques and other specifics related to the field of experiential and active social learning, behaves passively and minimally participates in individual activities, does not show interest and effort to develop his/her competences, relies on the group for original and creative solutions to the tasks set, cannot adequately reflect the emerging changes brought about by experiential learning, cannot find his/her place in the group, expresses his/her own opinion sporadically and not always in an appropriate way. The grade of Fx requires extra work, extra study; this grade is given exceptionally, most often because of non-participation in class and failure to complete the assigned interim assignments, refusal to cooperate in any way, refusal to take a stand on required topics and to express one's own opinion.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 100/0

Learning outcomes

Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

The aim of the course is to familiarize students with the cross-cutting theme of personal and social development and experiential learning aimed at the development of social-psychological competencies in the school and classroom environment.

The student after completing the course:

- distinguishes the different stages of group development, perceives its variability and can assess the impact of the teacher's role in this area,
- knows the content, methods and objectives of the cross-cutting theme of Personal and Social Development and can identify and propose its integration within his/her study programme,
- can use techniques and strategies of experiential and active social learning leading to the fulfilment of the objectives of the cross-cutting theme, to promote group cohesion and a positive atmosphere in the group,
- is oriented in the available literature and is able to modify the acquired knowledge for the purposes of educational practice,

- Through experiential activities, gain first-hand experience of active social and experiential learning.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

1. Cross-cutting theme Personal and social development and national curricula for lower and upper secondary education
2. Objectives, outcomes, content, methods of the cross-cutting theme and its integration into selected educational areas
3. Experiential and active social learning: models and theories of learning, methods and techniques.
4. Experiential and active social learning: space, tools, rules and challenging situations.
5. The school class as a group (the position, status and role of the individual in the group).
6. Group dynamics - group dynamics.

Learning outcomes: Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

The aim of the course is to convey a wide range of views on man as philosophy has grasped him through its means in different historical periods and cultural contexts. In the course, students will learn not only the basic images, views and concepts of man in their historical-philosophical, but also in their ethical-axiological framework. They will learn about the mutual inspirations and intersections between philosophical and special-scientific conceptions of man. They will become familiar with the motives and arguments of philosophical critiques of scientific conceptions of man. The mission of the course is for students to learn to identify the value background of philosophical thematizations of man and to infer possible axiological implications arising from the acceptance of relevant scientific conceptions of man.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

Possibilities of conceptualizing anthropological issues in the sciences and in philosophy. Limits of the scientific way of affirmation of the anthropological problematic. Basic conceptual and methodological problems associated with the thematization of man in philosophy. Typology of philosophical reflections of man according to different expert points of view. Substantial and non-substantial approaches to man and their worldview and pedagogical implications. Philosophical reflection on the relational relations in which man finds himself in the world: man and nature, man and society, man and technology, man and the sphere of the transcendent. Mapping the demarcation lines between the animal and the human, between the human and the posthuman. Philosophical critique of some concepts of normality and ideas about the ideal status of man, which have been entrenched in educational theory and practice. The axiological dimension of human existence. The importance of human knowledge for educational sciences. Education for humanism and respect for human dignity as the most essential mission of education.

Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: Midterm/final grade weighting: 100/0, the course is completed with an evaluation. The interim assessment includes two interim didactic tests (50% + 50% of the assessment). To pass the course, a minimum score of 60% is required. The rating is awarded on a scale: And 100-91%, well done - excellent results. In both didactic tests, the student has demonstrated a level of knowledge (the extent of acquired knowledge and mobilised cognitive abilities) that corresponds to an A grade in terms of cumulative points or percentage. Note: The didactic test contains tasks of varying cognitive difficulty, so it stratifies students not only according to the amount of knowledge they have acquired. The tests are designed to verify the specified learning outcomes. B 90-81%, very good - above average standard. In both didactic tests, the student has demonstrated a level of knowledge (the extent of acquired knowledge and mobilised cognitive abilities) that corresponds to a B grade in terms of cumulative points or percentage. C 80-73%, well - normal reliable work. In both didactic tests, the student has demonstrated a level of knowledge (the extent of acquired knowledge and mobilised cognitive abilities) that corresponds to a C grade in terms of cumulative scores or percentages. D 72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results. In both didactic tests, the student has demonstrated a level of knowledge (the extent of acquired knowledge and mobilised cognitive abilities) that corresponds to a grade D in the aggregate score or percentage. E 65-60%, enough. In both didactic tests, the student has demonstrated a level of knowledge (the extent of acquired knowledge and mobilised cognitive abilities) that corresponds to an E grade in terms of cumulative points and percentages. Fx 59-0%, not enough. The student did not meet the required thresholds for passing the course. Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 100/0
Learning outcomes: Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

The aim of the course is to convey a wide range of views on man as philosophy has grasped him through its means in different historical periods and cultural contexts. In the course, students will learn not only the basic images, views and concepts of man in their historical-philosophical, but also in their ethical-axiological framework. They will learn about the mutual inspirations and intersections between philosophical and special-scientific conceptions of man. They will become familiar with the motives and arguments of philosophical critiques of scientific conceptions of man. The mission of the course is for students to learn to identify the value background of philosophical thematizations of man and to infer possible axiological implications arising from the acceptance of relevant scientific conceptions of man.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

Possibilities of conceptualizing anthropological issues in the sciences and in philosophy. Limits of the scientific way of affirmation of the anthropological problematic. Basic conceptual and methodological problems associated with the thematization of man in philosophy. Typology of philosophical reflections of man according to different expert points of view. Substantial and non-substantial approaches to man and their worldview and pedagogical implications. Philosophical reflection on the relational relations in which man finds himself in the world: man and nature, man and society, man and technology, man and the sphere of the transcendent. Mapping the demarcation lines between the animal and the human, between the human and the posthuman. Philosophical critique of some concepts of normality and ideas about the ideal status of man, which have been entrenched in educational theory and practice. The axiological dimension of human existence. The importance of human knowledge for educational sciences. Education for humanism and respect for human dignity as the most essential mission of education.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes:

The student, on the basis of his/her interpretive skills, gradually learns the possibilities of interaction of the methods discussed with the teaching practice at primary school. The student is encouraged to work independently with musical material.

The student acquires habits of regular improvement and perseverance. In lessons with an individual approach under the influence of the teacher, he creates his personality, acquires and strengthens interpersonal and communication skills and, last but not least, abstract-analytical, and critical thinking.

Class syllabus:

Course outcomes of subject (content):

Deepening of technical and performance skills that leads the student to consciously grasp music in all its complexity. The student enriches his/her knowledge of the repertoire and builds proficiency in the technical mastery of the chosen instrument/song. Repertoire is selected in consultation with the teacher based on the student's individual gifts and preferences.

The intent is to cultivate instrumental/vocal skills as an essential part of the professional portfolio of the future teacher of music-related subjects.

D - acceptable performance, the student has only partially acquired the knowledge, there are major deficiencies in the subject matter, he/she cannot apply what he/she has learned in practice - the practical performance shows major deficiencies;

E - minimally acceptable performance, the student has acquired knowledge minimally, he/she cannot transfer it adequately into practice - significant deficiencies are observed in practical performance;

Fx - unacceptable performance, the student has not sufficiently mastered the content of education, or has not fulfilled the conditions set by the teacher during the semester.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes/ Objectives and learning outcomes:

The student is able to creatively use his/her acquired instrumental/singing skills and performance abilities in teaching practice. The student acquires habits of regular improvement and perseverance. In lessons with an individual approach under the influence of the teacher, the student creates his/her personality, acquires and strengthens interpersonal and communication skills and, last but not least, abstract-analytical, and critical thinking skills.

Class syllabus:

Course outcomes of subject (content):

Deepening of technical and performance skills that leads the student to consciously grasp music in all its complexity. The student enriches his/her knowledge of the repertoire and builds proficiency in the technical mastery of the chosen instrument/song. Through systematic work, the student is continually progressing. He gains a relaxed expression. The repertoire is selected in agreement with the teacher based on the individual student's gifts and preferences.

The intention is to cultivate instrumental/vocal skills as an essential part of the professional portfolio of a future teacher of music-related subjects.

Grading:

100 - 95% A, 94 - 89% B, 88 - 83% C, 82 - 77% D, 76 - 70% E, 69%–0% FX

The student is allowed to ask for an extra final assessment date (if he/she has not attended the assessment for medical or other compelling reasons) but is not allowed to re-take the in-semester assignments. Completing the midterm assessment with any result is a prerequisite for taking the exam.

Grade A (excellent): The student is able to independently create and present a presentation on a given topic. The presentation will be well structured; audio-visual material will be applied appropriately. The student will be able to handle the introductory and concluding parts of the presentation fluently and without hesitation. Throughout the presentation, the student will use English fluently and without hesitation at C1 level and use non-verbal communication appropriately. The student accurately adheres to the timetable of the presentation.

Grade B (very good): The student is able to create and deliver a presentation on the topic with minimal assistance. The presentation is appropriately structured, with some satisfactory incorporation of audio-visual materials. With minimal assistance, the student will be able to handle the introductory and concluding parts of the presentation. Throughout the presentation, the student will use English fluently and without hesitation at C1 level and use non-verbal communication appropriately. The student adheres to the timetable of the presentation with only minor imperfections.

Grade C (good): The student is able to create and present a presentation on the given topic with the help of the teacher, while the presentation has minor deficiencies in structure. Audio-visual material will be partially satisfactorily incorporated in the presentation. The student will be able to handle the introductory and concluding parts of the presentation with help or with hesitation. Throughout the presentation, the student uses English at C1 level with minor hesitation and uses non-verbal communication appropriately. With only minor imperfections, the student adheres to the timetable set for the presentation.

Grade D (satisfactory): The student is able to create and present a presentation on the topic with intensive help from the teacher, while the presentation is deficient in structure. Audio-visual material will be partially satisfactorily incorporated. The student will be able to handle the introductory and concluding parts of the presentation with more intensive help or with hesitation. Throughout the presentation, the student uses English at C1 level with minor hesitations or minor linguistic errors and uses non-verbal communication appropriately. With only minor imperfections, the student adheres to the timetable set for the presentation.

Grade E (satisfactory): The student is able, with support and intensive help from the teacher, to create and deliver a presentation on the topic, while the presentation has weaknesses in structure. Audio-visual material will be partly satisfactorily incorporated. With support and intensive help, and with hesitation, the student will be able to handle the opening and closing parts of the presentation. During the presentation, the student uses English at C1 level with hesitation or more serious language errors and uses non-verbal communication appropriately. The student does not fully adhere to the timetable set for the presentation.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (100%): The student will deliver a presentation of agreed length (20 - 40 min according to time availability and number of participants in the course) The following will be assessed during the presentation: Structure, organization, and design of the presentation - 15% Use of audio-visual material and its implementation in the presentation - 10% Opening and closing parts of the presentation - 15% Coherence of the presentation and use of “signpost language” - 15% Language used in the presentation (grammatical and lexical devices, hesitations, compensatory mechanisms) - 20% Non-verbal communication - 10% Timing of the presentation - 15%

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

Students will acquire knowledge, skills and competences related to presenting in English.

Knowledge:

The student will become familiar with the latest trends in presentation skills in the English language.

The student will become familiar with presentation platforms, specifically Microsoft Powerpoint, Keynote and online platforms (e.g., Prezi). The student will learn the language necessary for a successful presentation (opening and closing of a presentation, signpost language, linguistic devices to increase the level of coherence of speech). The student will be familiar with the rules for using non-verbal communication and will become familiar with the structure and time management of presentations.

Skills:

The student will be able to use presentation platforms (Powerpoint and Keynote) of their choice.

The student will be able to work with online presentation platforms. The student will be able to use C1 level language necessary to present successfully (be able to use the language and phrases necessary to open a presentation, conclude a presentation, as well as language to increase the level of coherence of a presentation). The student can use verbal and non-verbal communication appropriately. The student will be able to use presentation strategies and compensatory mechanisms in presentation practice. The student will apply time management to his/her own presentation.

Competences:

The student will become a competent presenter. The student is able to practically apply (in his/her own presentation) all the acquired language tools and presentation strategies, is able to adequately argue, present and defend his/her opinions and attitudes while accepting and respecting the opinions of others, is able to communicate effectively, cooperate and solve problems in a team. The student has developed autonomy and responsibility for his/her further professional development

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

Introduction of the presentation, structure, conclusion of the presentation - technical essentials and the language, describing and presenting numerical data and graphs, techniques to engage the audience, Q and A section, working with voice, body language, visual aids, presentation platforms (MS Powerpoint, Keynote, online platforms)

Through the above knowledge, the student has adequately developed presentation skills, has developed analytical-critical thinking, can communicate and solve problems effectively. The student is a competent presenter in both academic and various commercial presentations. The student has developed speaking skills. Linguistically, the student has developed the skills to communicate fluently in English in a variety of specific situations at the C1 level.

Student is not allowed to re-take the in-semester assignments. The overall assessment is conditioned by completion of the in-semester assignment with any result. Grade A (excellent performance): The student can independently and correctly perform the assigned tasks and complete the assignments. The student can independently and correctly explain English vocabulary without hesitation and can fluently retell a listened or read text using C1 level vocabulary. The student can respond quickly and correctly in the Cambridge Advanced exam format, can complete the information correctly in the time allowed, select the correct one from the information and paraphrase the information with the given vocabulary.

Grade B (very good): The student can perform the tasks and complete the assignments correctly with minimal help from the teacher and team. With minimal help from the teacher and team, the student can explain English vocabulary correctly without hesitation or with minor hesitation and can fluently retell a listened or read text using C1 level vocabulary. The student can respond quickly and correctly in the Cambridge Advanced exam format, can complete the information correctly in the time allowed, select the correct one from the information and paraphrase using the given word.

Grade C (good): The student is able to complete the tasks and complete assignments with minor errors with the help of the teacher and team. With the help of the teacher and the team, the student can explain English vocabulary correctly with minor hesitation and can retell a listened or read text fluently but with excessive use of compensatory strategies (e.g., fillers) using C1 level vocabulary. The student can respond with hesitation but mostly correctly in the format of the Cambridge Advanced exam, can fill in information in the time allowed with fewer errors, select the correct one from the information and paraphrase using the given word.

Grade D (satisfactory): The student can, with intensive help from the teacher and team, perform the tasks and complete the assignments correctly or with minor errors. With intensive help from the teacher and the team, the student can explain English vocabulary with minor errors and hesitations and can retell a listened or read text using C1 (CEFR) level vocabulary with minor errors. The student can respond in the format of the Cambridge Advanced exam, can, with only intensive help while making minor errors, complete the information in the time allowed, select the correct one from the information and paraphrase using the given word.

Grade E (sufficient): The student can only partially complete the assigned tasks and complete assignments with support and intensive help from the teacher and team. With support and intensive help from the teacher and team, the student can partially and hesitantly explain vocabulary in English and can retell a listened or read text using C1 level vocabulary with minor errors. The student can partially respond in the Cambridge Advanced exam format and only with support and intensive help they can partially complete the information, select the correct one and paraphrase using the word in the time allowed.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (100%): Reproduction of a#video clip, explanation of the new vocabulary (20%) Reading and Use of English part 1, 4 (20%) Test, vocabulary from the video clips (10%) Reading and Use of English part 1–4 (40%) Listening, part 1 (multiple choice) (10%)

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate's profile, this course aims to acquire the following knowledge, skills, and competences:

Knowledge:

The student will expand his/her vocabulary, know grammatical and lexical structures at C1 level. The student will learn the differences and similarities between language structures in the mother tongue (Slovak) and the structures in the target language (English). The student knows the structural and contextual differences between written and spoken speech. The student has knowledge of language skills and compensatory strategies. The student will acquire the knowledge necessary to pass the Cambridge Advanced examination.

Skills:

The student will be proficient in grammatical and lexical structures at C1 level in spoken and written communication. The student will gain confidence and improve all (receptive and productive language skills). The student will be able to apply the above aspects in communication. The student will develop correct pronunciation. He/she will master the strategies and principles of successful communication and learn to perceive the importance of the communicative context as a compensatory mechanism.

Competences:

The student will acquire communicative competence in the English language. The student will be able to understand a wide range of challenging long sentences and fully discern their meaning. He/she will be able to express ideas in a coherent and spontaneous manner without a significant search for expressions. The student will be able to use language effectively and flexibly for social, academic, and professional purposes. The student will be able to argue, present and defend his/her opinions appropriately. The student will be able to produce clear, well-structured, and detailed texts on complex topics. The student is able to communicate effectively, collaborate and solve problems as a team

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

Complete Advanced, Lessons 8–14: Media and its uses, At full speed, The lifelong process, Living somewhere else, The living world, Health and lifestyle, Moving and living abroad. Cambridge Advanced Listening papers 1–4, Reading and Use of English papers 1–7, speaking parts 1–4.

Through the above content, the student is linguistically prepared for teaching practice, has developed the skills to communicate fluently in English in a variety of specific situations at C1 level. The student knows the principles and importance of the application of digital technologies in foreign language education. The student can communicate effectively and has developed presentation and argumentation skills.

Learning outcomes:

Learning objectives and outcomes

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate profile, this course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

- The student knows the theoretical principles of designing and planning English language teaching in pre-primary education, knows the individual characteristics of pupils in pre-primary education, knows the principles of the student-centred approach and understands their importance for making learning and teaching English in pre-primary education more effective.

- The student knows the methods of foreign language teaching applied in teaching English in pre-primary education.

Skills:

- The student is familiar with relevant didactic publications and materials, can analyse and select them with regard to teaching objectives and specifics of preschool learners, can create a lesson plan by applying innovative methods and can demonstrate how he/she would teach preschool learners using the method of "storytelling" and drama.

- The student is able to apply the acquired theoretical knowledge while solving didactic tasks and problem-solving tasks and is able to analyse, evaluate and create teaching materials, analyse and evaluate study programmes for a given age category.

Competences:

- The student has adequately developed analytical, critical, pedagogical and psychological thinking, thanks to which he/she is able to use the acquired knowledge adequately when teaching English.

- The student is able to solve didactic tasks in cooperation with his schoolmates when working in a team, has adequately developed presentation and argumentation skills, through which he/she can present his/her opinions.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

Developmental characteristics of preschool pupils; speech development; second language acquisition, bilingualism - through brainstorming, students will present their opinions about teaching English to preschool pupils. They solve problem-solving tasks aimed at evaluating the appropriateness of different types of tasks and assignments in teaching of preschool pupils. Through a brief explanation of the subject matter, they are introduced to the theoretical knowledge of bilingualism and analyse specific case studies of bilingual families and present their views on bilingual education. Through videos depicting speech development at different stages of development, students try to describe the particular stages of speech development and the impact this has on learning of English as a foreign language. They discuss it in groups.

Montessori method and language development; the use of art (songs, art education) in teaching English - through videos about the Montessori method, discussion and mind maps, students will draw out the main principles of the Montessori method and its use in teaching English. They will design an English lesson with implemented elements of Montessori pedagogy. Building on the knowledge of the multisensory approach from the course "Didactics of English Language for Young Learners", they will evaluate the contribution of art when learning English and through experiential learning, students will become familiar with different activities that can be used in teaching English and they will evaluate them.

Innovative methods of teaching English in pre-primary education (WattsEnglish, Helen Doran, Hocus Lotus, English Immersion Club, etc.) - each student, through the study of the literature, will prepare a presentation on the selected innovative method, in which he/she will present its theoretical and methodological background, will prepare a demonstration of this method and then will discuss its positives and negatives with his/her schoolmates.

Storytelling and drama in English language teaching in pre-primary education - through a mind map students will write down what a story should contain (introduction, core, conclusion, characters, setting, etc.), they will get familiar with simple English stories that are suitable for pupils in pre-primary education. They will practise different dramatic techniques and try to perform a story. They will then create their own story with the necessary activities, using drama, and perform it in front of their classmates, who will evaluate it.

A student is entitled to ask for an alternative date of final assessment (in case of medical or other compelling reasons); in-semester assignments cannot be resat.

Passing the midterm assessment with any result is a prerequisite for passing the exam.

Grade A (excellent): The student can independently and correctly perform the assigned tasks and develop assignments. The student is able to respond fluently and without hesitation using C1 level vocabulary. The student is able to respond quickly and correctly orally, completing the information correctly, selecting the correct one from the information and paraphrasing using the given word in the time allowed.

Grade B (very good): The student is able to perform assigned tasks and produce assignments correctly with minimal assistance from the instructor and team. With minimal assistance from the instructor and/or team, the student can respond using C1 level vocabulary. The student is able to complete the information quickly and correctly orally, complete the information correctly in the time allotted, select the correct one from the information, and paraphrase using the given word.

Grade C (good): The student is able to perform assigned tasks and produce assignments correctly with the help of the teacher and team. The student is able to respond using C1 level vocabulary with the help of the teacher and/or team. The student is able to respond orally with minor hesitations and minor errors, completing information correctly, selecting the correct one from the information and paraphrasing using the word in the time allowed.

Grade D (satisfactory): The student can, with intensive help from the teacher and/or team, perform the assigned tasks and produce assignments partially correctly and with hesitation. With intensive help from the teacher and/or team, the student can respond using C1 level vocabulary. The student can respond orally with hesitation and minor errors, can complete information partially correctly, select the correct one from the information and paraphrase using the given word in the given time.

Grade E (sufficient): The student can only partially perform the given tasks and produce assignments correctly and with significant hesitation, with support and intensive help from the teacher and/or team. With support and intensive help from the teacher and/or the team, the student can respond using C1 level vocabulary with significant hesitation. The student can respond orally with hesitation and only partially correctly, can complete information partially correctly, select the correct one from the information and paraphrase using the given word in the given time.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (100%): Short in-semester tests: Listening part 1, 2 (multiple choice, fill-in tasks) – 20% Reading and Use of English part 1, 2 (multiple choice, fill-in tasks) – 20% Final test at the end of the semester in the form of Cambridge Advanced Listening parts 1–4 (multiple choice, fill-in tasks, matching the statement to the speaker) – 20% Reading and Use of English, part 1 (multiple choice, fill-in tasks, word formation, paraphrasing using the given word, multiple choice, adding the correct missing paragraph, matching the text) – 40%

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

Based on the objectives declared in the profile of a#graduate, this course aims for a student to develop the following knowledge, skills, and competences:

Knowledge:

The student knows and understands the tendencies of the development of the contemporary English language, knows the principles and strategies of linguistic analysis of authentic English text, knows the differences and similarities in the structure and functions of linguistic resources. The student will become familiar with strategies for successfully passing the Cambridge Advanced test, the student will learn the format of testing. The student will learn C1 level grammatical and lexical structures to apply in Cambridge Advanced tests.

Skills:

The student will develop and deepen core language skills (reading comprehension, listening comprehension, writing and speaking) as well as the ability to paraphrase a text (e.g. Reading and Use of English, Part 4), work with vocabulary (e.g. Reading and Use of Language, Part 3). The student also understands the similarities, differences, and interferences between the native and target languages. The student will be able to identify information and work with it correctly in Cambridge Advanced test tasks.

Competences:

The student will become a competent user of the language at C1 level. The student will have developed the necessary skills and strategies to pass the Cambridge Advanced (C1) test, be able to argue, present and defend his/her opinions and attitudes appropriately, while accepting and respecting the opinions of others.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

Cambridge Advanced Test, Listening Comprehension Parts 1–4, Reading Comprehension (Reading and Use of Language Parts 5, 6, 7), Writing, Speaking and Grammar combined with Vocabulary (Reading and Use of English Parts 1–4)

Through the above, the student has developed the skills to communicate fluently in English in a variety of specific situations at C1 level. Due to the nature of the course content, the student has developed critical-analytical thinking, mainly focused on solving test problems, but also on standard communication. The student is able to generalise the methodology of the Cambridge Advanced examination and all its parts and to draw theoretical and practical didactical connections. In selecting appropriate materials for preparation for the Cambridge Advanced exam, the student will be able to analyse and evaluate teaching materials reflecting the teaching objective, the conditions and the particularities of the specific educational context.

Educational activities: Type of activities: seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 1., 3.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisite subjects: none Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: The course is completed by assessment, the weighting of the interim and final assessment is 100/0. The student will be assessed by a final test for 30 points of theoretical knowledge and problem solving focused on understanding and interpreting statistical concepts. During the semester, students will submit 5 assignments of 6 points each, which will be focused on solving statistical assignments using MS EXCEL and JASP software from individual topics (descriptive statistics, correlation and regression analysis, sampling, hypothesis testing), and at the end of the semester, the student will submit and present a term paper for 40 points. The term paper will include an independent statistical treatment and interpretation of quantitative research (own or from data taken, for example, from thesis, rigor or PhD theses). The student will submit the thesis electronically in MS Word and MS EXCEL, and prepare the presentation in MS PowerPoint or Prezi. The student will demonstrate through the development and presentation of the term project that he/she is able to independently statistically evaluate quantitative research and interpret them. A minimum of 91 points is required for a final grade A, a minimum of 81 points for a grade B, a minimum of 73 points for a grade C, a minimum of 66 points for a grade D and a minimum of 60 points for a grade E. Credit will not be awarded to a student who scores less than 3 points on any of the 5 assignments. To pass the course, a score of at least 60% is required. The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding results), the student has excellent knowledge of the theoretical knowledge of statistical data processing and can interpret it correctly and clearly; he/she solves problems in a creative way, can react promptly and spontaneously during lectures and systematically prepares assignments for seminars, the student is proactive, asks questions in the context of the problem being solved. He is active in seminars. He brings his own experience and insights from practice to the teaching. His oral and written expression is correct, citationally correct, grammatically flawless. B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), the student has mastered the theoretical knowledge of statistical data processing and can interpret it correctly and clearly with minor shortcomings, has acquired key competences, can respond promptly during lectures to the teacher's challenges, the student is self-initiative and asks questions in the context of the problem addressed. His/her written expression in the term paper is correct, grammatically sound and creative. He brings his own experiences and insights from practice to the teaching. The results of his activities are of good quality, with minor shortcomings.

C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work), the student knows the theoretical knowledge of statistical data processing and can interpret them at an average, i.e. good level, has acquired theoretical knowledge and skills using MS EXCEL and JASP software in solving problems, can respond to the teacher's challenges. He/she does not take initiative himself/herself, does not ask questions in the context of the problem being solved. His communication style is not disruptive, but he is unsure of his answer and his speech does not have significant disruptive elements. He transfers experience from practice with problems. His, grammatical speech is of lesser quality.

D (72-66%, Satisfactory-Acceptable performance), the student has mastered the material at a satisfactory level. He/she knows the theory with minor gaps, but cannot apply it to the solution of practical experiences, he/she needs help in interpreting the obtained statistical data. He is not very active during teaching, does not bring new solutions, takes the role of a passive observer. Memorisation rather than critical thinking prevails in the student. Analysis from practice is less constructive. His/her written expression has some inaccuracies to serious deficiencies.

E (65-60%, sufficient - the results meet the minimum criteria), the student has a low level of theoretical knowledge of statistical data processing, responds to the teacher's instructions and prompts with considerable inaccuracies; the student himself is not proactive and does not ask questions in the context of the problem addressed. Applies theoretical knowledge with considerable problems; in practical terms, does not have recommendations for correct solution options. The student is rather in the position of a passive recipient of knowledge and is not active in the seminars. The student is not creative, he relies on numerous quotations without his own opinion. His grammatical expression is not error-free and stylistically correct.

Fx (59-0%, Insufficient - extra work required) this grade will be given if the student fails to meet any of the required minimum criteria and is not allowed to take the final test. This means that the student has not mastered the knowledge and skills to a degree that would enable him/her to meet at least the minimum criteria for a passing grade.

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes

Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

Upon completion of the course, the student will be able to appropriately choose a statistical method in quantitative research. The student will acquire skills in data processing and evaluation and will be able to use MS EXCEL and JASP software appropriately. Understand the meaning of the statistical data obtained and be able to evaluate and interpret the statistical outputs obtained in quantitative research.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

Introduction to types of variables and basic statistical theory. Mastering the creation of descriptive statistics files in MS Excel and JASP. Ability to test statistical hypotheses using parametric tests. Analysis of variance - ANOVA. Correlation and regression analysis.

1. Descriptive statistics - description of the statistical population
2. Descriptive statistics - data visualization
3. Correlation and regression analysis

The student will demonstrate through the development and presentation of the term project that he/she is able to independently statistically evaluate quantitative research and interpret them. A minimum of 91 points is required for a final grade A, a minimum of 81 points for a grade B, a minimum of 73 points for a grade C, a minimum of 66 points for a grade D and a minimum of 60 points for a grade E. Credit will not be awarded to a student who scores less than 3 points on any of the 5 assignments. To pass the course, a score of at least 60% is required. The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding results), the student has excellent knowledge of the theoretical knowledge of statistical data processing and can interpret it correctly and clearly; he/she solves problems in a creative way, can react promptly and spontaneously during lectures and systematically prepares assignments for seminars, the student is proactive, asks questions in the context of the problem being solved. He is active in seminars. He brings his own experience and insights from practice to the teaching. His oral and written expression is correct, citationally correct, grammatically flawless. B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), the student has mastered the theoretical knowledge of statistical data processing and can interpret it correctly and clearly with minor shortcomings, has acquired key competences, can respond promptly during lectures to the teacher's challenges, the student is self-initiative and asks questions in the context of the problem addressed. His/her written expression in the term paper is correct, grammatically sound and creative. He brings his own experiences and insights from practice to the teaching. The results of his activities are of good quality, with minor shortcomings.

C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work), the student knows the theoretical knowledge of statistical data processing and can interpret them at an average, i.e. good level, has acquired theoretical knowledge and skills using MS EXCEL and JASP software in solving problems, can respond to the teacher's challenges. He/she does not take initiative himself/herself, does not ask questions in the context of the problem being solved. His communication style is not disruptive, but he is unsure of his answer and his speech does not have significant disruptive elements. He transfers experience from practice with problems. His, grammatical speech is of lesser quality.

D (72-66%, Satisfactory-Acceptable performance), the student has mastered the material at a satisfactory level. He/she knows the theory with minor gaps, but cannot apply it to the solution of practical experiences, he/she needs help in interpreting the obtained statistical data. He is not very active during teaching, does not bring new solutions, takes the role of a passive observer. Memorisation rather than critical thinking prevails in the student. Analysis from practice is less constructive. His/her written expression has some inaccuracies to serious deficiencies.

E (65-60%, sufficient - the results meet the minimum criteria), the student has a low level of theoretical knowledge of statistical data processing, responds to the teacher's instructions and prompts with considerable inaccuracies; the student himself is not proactive and does not ask questions in the context of the problem addressed. Applies theoretical knowledge with considerable problems; in practical terms, does not have recommendations for correct solution options. The student is rather in the position of a passive recipient of knowledge and is not active in the seminars. The student is not creative, he relies on numerous quotations without his own opinion. His grammatical expression is not error-free and stylistically correct.

Fx (59-0%, Insufficient - extra work required) this grade will be given if the student fails to meet any of the required minimum criteria and is not allowed to take the final test. This means that the student has not mastered the knowledge and skills to a degree that would enable him/her to meet at least the minimum criteria for a passing grade.

Learning outcomes

Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

Upon completion of the course, the student will be able to appropriately choose a statistical method in quantitative research. The student will acquire skills in data processing and evaluation and will be able to use MS EXCEL and JASP software appropriately. Understand the meaning of the statistical data obtained and be able to evaluate and interpret the statistical outputs obtained in quantitative research.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

Introduction to types of variables and basic statistical theory. Mastering the creation of descriptive statistics files in MS Excel and JASP. Ability to test statistical hypotheses using parametric tests. Analysis of variance - ANOVA. Correlation and regression analysis.

1. Descriptive statistics - description of the statistical population
2. Descriptive statistics - data visualization
3. Correlation and regression analysis
4. Probability
5. Random variables
6. Probability distribution

7. Selective enquiry 8. Estimates of the characteristics of the base set 9. Hypothesis testing 10. Semester project presentation

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

Based on the objectives declared in the profile of a graduate, this course concentrates on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills, and competences:

Knowledge:

Students acquire knowledge of the impact of relevant psychological disciplines on the methodology of English language teaching.

They acquire basic knowledge of the psychology of foreign language learning and teaching, and neurodidactics, which is essential for developing professional skills and personal characteristics of English language teachers; they understand its importance for humanistic education, as well as for solving problems reflecting individual differences of learners.

They understand learning mechanisms as well as the determining impact of cognitive and affective components on the effectiveness of language learning.

Skills:

Students can work with professional texts, critically analyse the latest findings and their relevance for English language teaching in Slovakia.

They develop their analytical-critical and pedagogical-psychological-linguistic thinking, which is fundamental for their pedagogical flexibility, creativity, empathy, and other personality characteristics.

They develop skills to apply acquired theoretical knowledge in foreign language teaching practice, analyse the sources of educational problems and suggest appropriate interventions.

They develop English language communicative competence (C1 level) and can fluently communicate about professional issues.

Competences:

Students develop their metacognitive awareness, autonomy, and effective self-study strategies; they are responsible for their professional development.

They develop their presentation and argumentation skills, ability to formulate, justify and defend their opinions and attitudes.

They develop professional and personal characteristics fundamental for humanistic teaching approaches and for solving educational problems reflecting social and ethical responsibility. They can effectively communicate in English, work in team, and cooperate in solving educational problems. They have predispositions to actively participation in professional events in foreign language education.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

1. The Learner-centred approach – synthesising knowledge related to linguodidactics acquired in their previous study, students develop their skills to apply theoretical knowledge in foreign language teaching practice; they deepen their skills and competences fundamental for the humanization of foreign language teaching; they develop their presentation and argumentation skills in English as well as their cooperation and team-work skills.

2. The basis of neurodidactics – brain-compatible foreign language learning – students learn about and understand the impact of neuroscience on the methodology of English language teaching, which is fundamental for the development of their professional skills.

3. Individual and developmental learners' differences in foreign language learning (age, aptitude, intelligence, learning styles, learning strategies, personality, affective components) – students acquire basic knowledge in the psychology of foreign language learning and teaching; they understand the determining impact of cognitive and affective components on the effectiveness of language learning; they develop their analytical-critical and pedagogical-psychological-linguistic thinking, which is fundamental for their pedagogical flexibility, creativity, and empathy; they develop their metacognitive awareness and autonomy; they deepen their skills to work with professional sources, critically analyse information and evaluate its relevance for English language teaching in Slovakia.

4. Psychological aspects of developing linguistic (grammar) competence – based on acquired theoretical knowledge, students understand the psychological mechanisms of foreign language grammar learning, they understand causal relationships and sources of pedagogical problems; they develop their skills to apply theoretical knowledge in pedagogical practice.

Teaching these topics using the methods above significantly contributes to achieving the set goals and learning outcomes listed in the profile of a graduate.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2022/2023
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KPg/M-VUZde018/22	Course title: Psychological analysis of school educational situations
Educational activities: Type of activities: seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 1., 3.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisite subjects: none Prerequisites for passing the course: 100% of continuous assessment Continuous assessment includes the evaluation of the completion of continuous tasks and assignments, which are carried out in an individual or group form. These are mainly experiential activities and exercises aimed at solving school educational situations. Using role-play and cooperative games, the student practises various strategies and techniques for coping with pupils' inappropriate behaviour (max. 30 points). In small groups during class, they develop a proposal for a prevention or intervention program aimed at eliminating or addressing inappropriate school situations (max. 20 points), which they then present (max. 10 points). The student individually produces a seminar paper (on a specific educational problem situation in school) in which he/she proposes a possible solution (max. 30 points). The student will present the seminar paper continuously according to the timetable (max. 10 points). The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding results), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, well - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, sufficient - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, insufficient - extra work required). For successful completion of the course it is necessary to obtain at least 60% of the points. For a grade of A, students need to produce excellent results continuously throughout the semester, be able to study independently, be able to navigate a variety of literary sources, and critically select relevant sources for their studies. Students have knowledge of a variety of educational situations in the school environment and how to address them, and are able to apply their knowledge in meaningful ways to create assignments. A grade of B means that the students achieved above average results throughout the semester, were able to study independently, are able to navigate through various literary sources and critically select relevant sources for their studies, have knowledge of various educational situations in the school environment and their solutions, and are able to apply their knowledge appropriately to the creation of assignments.

A grade of C means that the students performed well during the semester, their theoretical knowledge of various educational situations in the school environment and their solutions is at a good level, but they have deficiencies in their ability to apply this knowledge, they have deficiencies in the critical evaluation and comparison of literary sources and psychological knowledge.

A grade of D means that students were less prepared during the semester, they have slight deficiencies in theoretical knowledge related to various educational situations in the school environment and their solutions. They have considerable difficulties in independent work, they cannot critically analyse information.

A grade of E means that students fail in more than one of the assignments, lack the ability to analyze and compare multiple pieces of knowledge, but have mastered most of the theoretical knowledge in the course.

A grade of FX indicates that the student has not sufficiently completed the course requirements and extra work is required.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 100/0

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes

Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

The goal is to increase sensitivity to inter-individual differences and group dynamics in the context of dealing with school educational situations and to learn specific strategies and techniques for dealing with these situations.

Students after completing the course:

- understand and orient themselves to the basic background and possible reasons for pupil behaviour at school
- know the different forms of inappropriate behaviour at school
- understand the processes of group dynamics in the school classroom
- know the procedures for dealing with different types of inappropriate behaviour at school
- know the intervention methods used in the prevention and resolution of various educational situations

Upon completion of the course, students will be able to:

- identify inappropriate behaviour of the pupil in the educational environment
- to address the occurrence of various forms of inappropriate pupil behaviour
- sensitively take into account inter-individual differences in group dynamics when dealing with school situations
- design and implement an intervention programme aimed at preventing inappropriate behaviour among pupils
- design and implement an intervention programme to address pupil misbehaviour

Students are competent after completing the course:

- think analytically and critically in the design of prevention and intervention programmes
- communicate adequately in cooperation with the pupil's parents or the pupil himself/herself

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

1. The basic background of inappropriate behaviour of a child at school and its possible causes.
2. Selected types of inappropriate student behaviour in the educational environment and the possibilities of their identification.
3. The influence of family environment and sibling constellation on children's inappropriate behavior at school.

4. The impact of different types of parenting styles in the family and school environment on child behavior.
5. Dreikurs' theory of mistaken behavioral goals (attention, power, revenge, failure avoidance).
6. Intervention techniques appropriate for addressing particular types of inappropriate behavior.
7. Prevention techniques applicable to the prevention of particular types of inappropriate behaviour. Planning prevention strategies.
8. The dynamics of the school classroom as a social group and its influence on student behavior.
9. Classroom management strategies and techniques.
10. Family and school cooperation. Interview with parents.
11. Practical skills training of students in dealing with educational situations in school.

Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisite subjects: none Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: The course is completed with a 100% interim assessment, which includes: a presentation of a selected topic (30% of the assessment) and a final colloquium in the assessment week (70% of the assessment). For successful completion of the course, a minimum of 60% of the presentation grade and 60% of the final colloquium grade is required. The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - excellent results; students performed excellently during the semester, actively participated in the teaching and showed interest in the subject, they can work independently with the literature and creatively process and present the acquired knowledge, their theoretical knowledge of religious studies is at a high level), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard; students performed very well during the semester, they participated in the teaching, they can work independently with the literature and creatively process and present the acquired knowledge, their theoretical knowledge of religious studies is at a very good level), C (80-73%, good - normal reliable work; students performed standardly well during the semester, they were able to work independently with the literature and to process and present the acquired knowledge in an appropriate way, their theoretical knowledge of religious studies is at a good level), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results; students have limited ability to work independently with the literature and are able to process and present the acquired knowledge with problems; they have slight deficiencies in theoretical knowledge of religious studies), E (65-60%, sufficient - the results meet the minimum criteria; students have considerable difficulties in working independently with the literature as well as in processing and presenting the acquired knowledge, they have significant deficiencies in theoretical knowledge of religious studies), Fx (59-0%, insufficient - extra work required). Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 100/0
Learning outcomes: Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

The course will provide students with background information and orientation in the history and present of religions and sufficient background to understand religion as a significant spiritual component of the life of society. By completing the course, students will gain the ability to analyze religion in its interconnectedness as a personal, historical, cultural, ethical, social, and transcendent phenomenon. It will orient them to the world's major religious systems as well as new religious movements. They will be able to use the acquired knowledge effectively in the pedagogical process as part of civics, with an emphasis on education for religious and, in general, attitudinal tolerance. By completing the course, students will develop transferable competencies such as communication skills, analytical skills, creativity and abstract thinking skills, critical thinking skills, motivation and the ability to learn, and reasoning in context.

Learning objectives:

To provide students with the basic information needed to understand religion as a phenomenon that plays a significant role in the life of the individual as well as in society and to familiarize them primarily with the world's dominant religious systems, which are the largest in terms of both number of adherents and geographical representation.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

1. Religious studies as a discipline and its key concepts.
2. Hypotheses about the origins of religion; the religious scene of today.
3. Primitive religions: manism and totemism.
4. Ancient religions: Egyptian, Canaanite, Greek, Roman, Celtic and Slavic.
5. Ethnic religions: Taoism, Confucianism and Shintoism.
6. Judaism: doctrine and practice.
7. Christianity: doctrine and practice.
8. Islam: teaching and practice.
9. Hinduism: doctrine and practice.
10. Buddhism: teaching and practice.

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate's profile, this course aims to acquire the following knowledge, skills, and competences:

Knowledge:

The student masters the basic content of semantics and related disciplines and the fundamentals of semantic analysis; the student deepens his/her knowledge of the vocabulary of the English language, understands the importance of polysemy, and masters the fundamentals of lexical semantics, prototypical semantics, and understands the relationships between semantics and other linguistic disciplines (especially lexicology, morphology, and syntax). The student knows the semantic relations between lexemes and can apply them in communication. The student is familiar with the semantic literature and understands the trends in the development of the contemporary English language. The student knows the differences and similarities in the meanings and functions of language structures of the native (Slovak) and target (English) languages and understands the different interpretations of extralinguistic reality.

Skills:

The student can identify semantic relationships in a text. The student will be able to practically use neutral and stylistically marked vocabulary. The student can identify and correctly point out functional and semantic differences between English and Slovak, can work with interlingual relations and interpret different extralinguistic realities, can semantically analyse authentic English texts. The student is able to apply an extensive vocabulary at C1 level and has developed the skills to communicate fluently in English on semantic topics, knows how to use information and communication technologies and can look up the meanings of vocabulary in dictionaries and databases.

Competences:

The student has adequately developed analytical-critical thinking, can critically evaluate similarities and differences in the meanings of words, phrases and sentences, which allows him/her to use the acquired knowledge for his/her personal, professional and social development, is able to argue adequately, present semantic theories, can communicate effectively, cooperate and solve problems in a team, knows how to use Internet resources, can actively search for information in corpora, knows the principles and possibilities of the application of digital technologies.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

Typology of meaning, lexical semantics, semasiology and onomasiology, prototype theory, semantic word formation, semantics of figurative language, analysis of semantic fields, word linking, sentence semantics, pragmatics, speech act theory

The above knowledge will contribute to the overall readiness of the graduate for the teaching profession. The student is familiar with the basic content and methodology of semantics and related linguistic disciplines, he / she is familiar with the broader cultural and social contexts. The student is able to work with professional texts, is familiar with the semantic literature, can observe, and critically analyse various semantic topics and problems. The student is able to implement these problems in his/her pedagogical activities, especially with regard to lexical semantics and areas where semantics meets other linguistic or linguodidactic areas of inquiry. The student has developed the skills to communicate fluently in English in a variety of specific situations at C1 level. The student can communicate effectively on semantic problems and has adequately developed presentation and argumentation skills.

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate's profile, this course aims to acquire the following knowledge, skills, and competences:

Knowledge:

The student will learn about the social aspects of language, understand the nature of language variability in terms of social variables (social class, age, gender, ethnicity, culture, etc.), situational variables (medium, field, style, genre, speaker relationship, etc.), and geographical variables, and acquire knowledge about the use and variability of contemporary English.

Skills:

The student knows the differences between different varieties and layers of language and can demonstrate them with practical examples, can design a basic procedure for the empirical investigation of a selected sociolinguistic variable, can correctly identify and use linguistic resources determined socially, situationally and geographically, can practically apply the acquired theoretical knowledge in the analysis of a coherent authentic text, can work with and critically analyse a professional text, can use the acquired knowledge in an appropriate and adequate way in pedagogical practice.

Competences:

The student learns to work independently and as a team in solving sociolinguistic problems and tasks, is able to communicate on topics related to empirical research and linguistic variability, is able to search for and use digital resources and aids for his/her further independent development, is familiar with professional texts, is able to link the acquired theoretical knowledge with the subject of research in other linguistic fields, is able to apply the acquired knowledge in an appropriate way in practice.

Class syllabus:

Course contents

Main themes of the course:

Relationship between language and society, language varieties, communicative competence, sociolinguistic research - variables and hypotheses, language and social variables, language and situational variables, language and geographical variables, functions of language and the methods applied in analysing his/her own experience, is able to independently determine the objectives of a grammar test, create it and justify his/her approach.

Through the above content, the student learns about the variability of languages, their structural-functional and sociolinguistically determined characteristics, learns the ways of applying theoretical knowledge through practical analysis of sociolinguistic phenomena, develops his/her communicative and sociolinguistic skills and vocabulary at the C1 level, can read professional literature in English, learns to work independently and as a team to solve linguistic issues and problems, and is prepared to apply the acquired knowledge and skills appropriately in pedagogical practice.

Grade B (very good): The student is able to create an English lesson plan by applying the inductive method with minimal help from the teacher, demonstrates an excellent level of analysis of grammar instruction and methods used in analysing his/her own experiences, is able to determine the objectives of a grammar test with minimal help from the teacher, create it and justify his/her procedure.

Grade C (good): The student, with the help of the teacher, is able to create an English lesson plan with minor errors by applying the inductive method of teaching grammar, demonstrates a good level of analysis of teaching grammar and the methods applied by analysing his/her own experience, is able to set the objectives of a grammar test with the help of the teacher, create it with minor errors and justify his/her procedure with the help of the teacher.

Grade D (satisfactory): The student, only with intensive help from the teacher and with more deficiencies, is able to create an English lesson plan by applying the inductive method. The student demonstrates a satisfactory level of analysis of the grammar teaching and methods applied with a greater number of shortcomings in the analysis of his/her own experience, can, with intensive help from the teacher, set the objectives of a grammar test, create it with minor errors and justify his/her approach with the help of the teacher.

Grade E (sufficient): The student can only partially create an English lesson plan by applying the inductive method with the support and intensive help of the teacher, can only partially analyse the methods of teaching grammar in AJ lessons based on his/her own experience, can set the objectives of a grammar test with the intensive help of the teacher, create it with a larger number of errors and partially justify his/her procedure.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Continuous assessment (100 points/percent): Designing a lesson plan aimed at teaching a particular grammar structure inductively (30 points); creating appropriate teaching materials and aids for the lesson plan (10 points); an essay focused on presenting a student's own experience of learning and teaching grammar in which the experience is analysed critically evaluated, proposing suggestions for appropriate intervention based on the knowledge gained and reflection on the experience (30 points); designing a grammar test aimed at testing grammar based on a textbook accredited by the Ministry of Education and Science with regard to a particular ISCED and language level (30 points)

Learning outcomes:

Objectives and learning outcomes:

From the learning objectives declared in the graduate profile, this course focuses on the acquisition of the following knowledge, skills and competences:

Knowledge:

Students know the principles of pedagogical diagnosis necessary for designing a grammar test, they know various English teaching methods as well as digital technologies applied in English grammar teaching and learning taking into account developmental-psychological characteristics of learners. Students are familiar with recommended approaches and methods of English grammar teaching which are appropriate for pupils with special educational needs.

Skills:

Students are able to apply the acquired theoretical knowledge in English grammar teaching by designing their own lesson plans, are able to propose concrete solutions to problem situations that may arise in grammar lessons. Students are able to propose suggestions for appropriate intervention based on the acquired knowledge, are able to use digital technologies in order to make English grammar teaching more effective.

Competences:

Having developed and improved students' presentation and argumentation skills, they are able to present and justify actually implemented procedures in designing a particular grammar test. Students are able to evaluate their own experience of English grammar teaching and learning due to their metacognitive awareness.

Class syllabus:

Course contents:

Main themes of the course:

1. Theoretical foundations of English grammar learning and teaching and Johnson's Model – through brainstorming and mind mapping students present their findings, which is followed by a more in-depth introduction to the theoretical foundations of foreign language grammar teaching. Students analyse, compare and evaluate learning theories, linguistic theories and theories of language and grammar teaching and acquisition.
2. The role of grammar in different teaching methods (GTM, TPR, CLT, etc.); inductive and deductive approaches to grammar teaching; the role of grammar in communication – through discussions (based on previously acquired knowledge) students justify and evaluate the role of grammar in different methods, they reflect on how the view of grammar teaching has changed over time; through introspective analysis students evaluate their own experiences of English grammar learning and teaching and suggest suggestions for appropriate intervention.
3. Individual and developmental-psychological characteristics of learners in learning English grammar – students discuss ways of presenting and practising relevant grammar structures taking into account a particular age and language level as well as special educational needs of various groups of learners.
4. Pedagogical diagnosis applied in grammar assessment – through a short explanation of the curriculum students get acquainted with the basic principles of pedagogical diagnosis and the methods applied in assessing the level of acquisition of grammatical phenomena by learners, students design a grammar test aimed at testing selected grammar structures at a particular age group and language level. Students design solutions for different problem situations that may arise in grammar lessons.
5. Teaching English grammar to pupils with special educational needs by applying a multisensory approach – through group work students design activities for a selected grammar structure by utilising a multisensory approach and implementing appropriate information and communication technologies, students justify their approach.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2022/2023
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KP/M-VUZde005/22	Course title: Teaching practice 1 (A)
Educational activities: Type of activities: practice Number of hours: per week: per level/semester: 2t Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 1.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: The course is completed by assessment (100% of the interim assessment). The student will attend a pre-practise seminar with the practice methodologist of the approbation subject (A), will complete within 2 weeks 30 hours of practice in the approbation subject (A), including 10 hours of tutorials, 10 hours of outcomes and 10 hours of analyses with a trainee teacher in a primary or secondary school according to the subject/content specialisation. From the tutorials and outcomes the student keeps a personal portfolio of teaching practice. The personal portfolio is an indicator of the student's personal commitment and responsibility. The portfolio may be in print or electronic format. The student submits the portfolio to the practice methodologist for evaluation, and at the end of the portfolio the student attends a colloquium to evaluate and reflect on the teaching practice. The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding results), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, well - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, sufficient - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, insufficient - extra work required) For successful completion of the course it is necessary to obtain at least 60% of the points. A - excellent results: the student is able to apply procedures in the processes of formulating objectives according to different taxonomies of objectives. The student can analyze and classify methods and forms and other didactic categories in practice. The student is able to work effectively with professional sources. The student can critically, factually assess and evaluate the presented solutions of others, can evaluate the quality of his/her own work. B - above average standard: the student can apply the procedures in the processes of formulating goals according to different taxonomies of goals. The student can analyze and classify methods and forms and other didactic categories in practice. Above-average orientation in the problems of general didactics, above-average communication skills, completion of assigned tasks. Critical evaluation is at borderline level.

C - normal reliable work: the student is able to work out the assigned tasks, average orientation in the problems of general didactics. Can apply the procedures in the processes according to the model and with the teacher's help. Average activity on intermediate assignments.

D - acceptable results: the student is able to work out intermediate tasks with the help of the teacher, average orientation in general didactics, average student activity.

E - the results meet the minimum criteria: the student can define and define basic didactic concepts and elements, but cannot define them in educational contexts. Critical assessment and evaluation are absent. Sufficient level of practical skills and professional knowledge.

FX - extra work is required: the student has very little knowledge of basic didactic terminology, cannot apply it in the outputs, there is no application of procedures, correct elaboration of tasks. Critical assessment and evaluation are absent.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 100/0

Learning outcomes:

Learning outcomes:

Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

The aim of pedagogical practice 1A is to orient the student to real school practice, the work of teachers and pupils in the teaching process of the subject (A) in primary and secondary schools. During the practicum the student observes the teaching process of a trainee teacher and, on the basis of theoretical knowledge, analyses the teaching process in its entirety. During the outcomes, the student is able to work out the methodological preparation for the teaching unit, he/she is able to appropriately implement the individual objectives, methods, forms, teaching means and phases into the teaching process.

After completing the pedagogical practice 1 A, the student can orientate in real school practice, in the work of teachers and pupils in primary and secondary school teaching. The student is able to integrate and confront the theoretical and practical component of university training, is able to process the record of the hospitalization of the teaching unit, is able to conduct his/her own teaching outputs and real educational activity in the conditions of primary and secondary school. After completing the pedagogical practice 1 A, the student can apply the requirements of school documentation when designing a teaching unit, can process the preparation for the lesson according to the subject approbation, can interpret and predict educational phenomena, can appropriately implement individual objectives, methods, forms, teaching means and phases in the teaching process. The student can perceive pedagogical and psychological phenomena in a real school situation, register and interpret them accurately.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

Hospitalization activity:

Preparatory phase of the hospitalization: pre-practicum seminar, definition of the requirements for the implementation of the practice, preparation and study of the hospitalization sheets, study of the literature, pre-hospitalization interview with the trainee teacher.

Implementation phase of the hospitalization: self-observation of the teaching process, processing of the hospitalization sheets.

Final phase of the hospitalization: interpretation of observed educational phenomena, analysis of the hospitalization portfolio.

Output activity:

Preparatory phase for the output: elaboration of the methodological preparation for teaching, analysis of the methodological preparation for teaching with the trainee teacher,

Implementation phase of the output: implementation of the teaching unit, implementation of the individual objectives, methods, forms, teaching means and phases into the teaching process.

Final phase of the outcome: reflection on own preparation and analysis of teaching with the trainee teacher.
 Final colloquium of Teaching practice 1 (A):
 The colloquium conducted with the pedagogical practice methodologist leads students to confront theory with practice, to perceive the concept in relation to the specific educational activity, to the specific work of the teacher, but above all in relation to the pupil.

Learning objectives and outcomes and transferable competences:

The aim of Teaching practice 1 (B) is to orient the student to real school practice, the work of teachers and pupils in the teaching process of the subject (B) in primary and secondary schools. During the practicum, the student observes the teaching process of a trainee teacher and, on the basis of theoretical knowledge, analyses the teaching process in its entirety. During the outcomes, the student is able to work out the methodological preparation for the teaching unit, he/she is able to appropriately implement the individual objectives, methods, forms, teaching means and phases into the teaching process.

After completing Teaching practice 1 (B), the student can orientate in real school practice, in the work of teachers and pupils in primary and secondary school teaching. The student is able to integrate and confront the theoretical and practical component of university training, is able to process the record of the hospitalization of the teaching unit, is able to conduct his/her own teaching outputs and real educational activity in the conditions of primary and secondary school. After completing Teaching practice 1 (B), the student can apply the requirements of school documentation in designing a teaching unit, can process the preparation for a lesson according to the subject approbation, can interpret and predict educational phenomena, can appropriately implement individual objectives, methods, forms, teaching means and phases in the teaching process. The student can perceive pedagogical and psychological phenomena in a real school situation, register and interpret them accurately.

Class syllabus:

Brief outline of the course:

Hospitalization activity:

Preparatory phase of the hospitalization: pre-practicum seminar, definition of the requirements for the implementation of the practice, preparation and study of the hospitalization sheets, study of the literature, pre-hospitalization interview with the trainee teacher.

Implementation phase of the hospitalization: self-observation of the teaching process, processing of the hospitalization sheets.

Final phase of the hospitalization: interpretation of observed educational phenomena, analysis of the hospitalization portfolio.

Output activity:

Preparatory phase for the output: elaboration of the methodological preparation for teaching, analysis of the methodological preparation for teaching with the trainee teacher,

Implementation phase of the output: implementation of the teaching unit, implementation of the individual objectives, methods, forms, teaching means and phases into the teaching process.

Final phase of the outcome: reflection on own preparation and analysis of teaching with the trainee teacher.
 Final colloquium of Teaching practice 1 (B):
 The colloquium conducted with the pedagogical practice methodologist leads students to confront theory with practice, to perceive the concept in relation to the specific educational activity, to the specific work of the teacher, but above all in relation to the pupil.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2022/2023
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Education
Course ID: PdF.KP/M-VUZde008/22	Course title: Teaching practice 2 (B)
Educational activities: Type of activities: practice Number of hours: per week: per level/semester: 3t Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 2
Recommended semester: 4.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Prerequisites for successful completion of the course: The course is completed by assessment (100% of the interim assessment). The student will attend a pre-praxis seminar with the apprenticeship methodologist (B), complete 45 hours of practice, including 10 hours of exercises, 20 hours of outcomes and 15 hours of analyses with a trainee teacher in an elementary or secondary school according to the subject/content of the apprenticeship. The student keeps a personal portfolio of teaching practice from the tutorials and outcomes. The personal portfolio is an indicator of the student's personal commitment and responsibility. The portfolio may be in print or electronic format. The student submits the portfolio to the Practice Methodologist for evaluation, and at the end of the portfolio the student attends a colloquium to evaluate and reflect on the teaching practice. The rating is awarded on a scale: A (100-91%, excellent - outstanding results), B (90-81%, very good - above average standard), C (80-73%, well - normal reliable work), D (72-66%, satisfactory - acceptable results), E (65-60%, sufficient - results meet minimum criteria), Fx (59-0%, insufficient - extra work required). For successful completion of the course it is necessary to obtain at least 60% of the points. A - excellent results: the student is able to apply procedures in the processes of formulating objectives according to different taxonomies of objectives. The student can analyze and classify methods and forms and other didactic categories in practice. The student is able to work effectively with professional sources. The student can critically, factually assess and evaluate the presented solutions of others, can evaluate the quality of his/her own work. B - above average standard: the student can apply the procedures in the processes of formulating goals according to different taxonomies of goals. The student can analyze and classify methods and forms and other didactic categories in practice. Above-average orientation in the problems of general didactics, above-average communication skills, completion of assigned tasks. Critical evaluation is at borderline level.

C - normal reliable work: the student is able to work out the assigned tasks, average orientation in the problems of general didactics. Can apply the procedures in the processes according to the model and with the teacher's help. Average activity on intermediate assignments.

D - acceptable results: the student is able to work out intermediate tasks with the help of the teacher, average orientation in general didactics, average student activity.

E - the results meet the minimum criteria: the student can define and define basic didactic concepts and elements, but cannot define them in educational contexts. Critical assessment and evaluation are absent. Sufficient level of practical skills and professional knowledge.

FX - extra work is required: the student has very little knowledge of basic didactic terminology, cannot apply it in the outputs, there is no application of procedures, correct elaboration of tasks. Critical assessment and evaluation are absent.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 100/0
