COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2025/2026
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Course ID: FiF.KAPVH/A- moAMD-015/21	Course title: 3D-visualization of historical objects
Educational activities: Type of activities: seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 4
Recommended semester: 1.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Final colloquium, class activity, 2 accepted absences Student is required to achieve at least 60 percent success in the individual components of the evaluation in order to successfully complete the course. Violation of academic ethics results in the cancellation of the obtained points in the relevant evaluation item. Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 40/60
Learning outcomes: Student will gain a basic overview of the history of 3D visualization, the philosophy of new image presentation of objects (pictorial turn), methods of work (obtaining information about the object, data for 3D modeling, 3D modeling itself, presentation of outputs). He will get acquainted with several applications suitable for 3D visualization and confront their pro and contra. Thanks to an excursion to the workplace realizing 3D visualization, he / she will get an idea of the practical logistics of work. He will master the basic technical terms, the development of the main phenomena and with the assistance of teachers he will be able to try out simple work procedures.
Class syllabus: - 2D and 3D rendering of objects and pictorial turn in modern society - introduction - Terminology, methodology and logistics of works - Digital techniques: photogrammetry, laser scanning, gigapixel - Vector presentation and textured 3D model - Simple applications for (2D) visualization of historical objects (Adobe Photoshop) - Applications for 3D visualization of historical objects (SketchUp, Blender, Revit) - Presentation of digital content - animation, virtual reality, calculated reality, 3D printing - Good practices - Excursion to a professional workplace - Practical work with selected applications (Photoshop, SketchUp, Blender, Revit)

Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Evaluation 100% during the semester - active participation during lessons (10 pts - activity + small tasks) + 2 presentations (20pts, presented during the semester). Max 2 absences accepted. Classification scale: 100-90 = A 89-80 = B 79-70 = C 69-60 = D 59-50 = E 49- = FX Assessment criteria: 2 presentations - one on a museum, the other on a heritage site of the student's choice (European, non-Slovak), engaging in class discussions and small tasks = 30 points Museum presentation criteria: 10-15 minutes, basic information about the museum (what/where/type), brief history (background), information about collections, exhibitions, other activities they do / offer; ideally a museum you have visited, so you can share your experience and opinion, maybe offer tips for improvement Cultural heritage site presentation criteria: 10-15 minutes, basic information about the site (what/where/type), history, background info (why it is important, what is special about it), if there are some special activities (museum presentation, special events...); ideally a site you have visited so you can tell us about the experience - presentations should focus on different regions of Europe, presenting cultural elements from various countries; students should draw on their own experience from visiting those places, followed by a group discussion Policy on absences: additional tasks if a student misses more than 2 classes - a paper (800-1100 words, proper use of citations and references) on a Slovak museum / heritage site following the same content structure as presentation; plus a short list of examples of a selected type of a museum Violation of academic ethics will be punished, and the student will lose all the received points in the relevant assessment.

Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 100/0 active participation during lessons (max 2 absences) + 2 presentations

Learning outcomes:

Students will be able to explain the development of the museum phenomenon in Europe and define the term museum. Students will be able to classify museums based on typology. Students will become familiar with different types of European museums and heritage sites, being able to list examples. Students will use their own experience from different European countries and share it with one another via peer learning activities, thus promoting cultural diversity and internationalisation. Students will be motivated to visit museums and heritage sites more.

Class syllabus:

During the course we will briefly cover the beginnings of museums in Europe and the different forms they take today. We will discuss various types of museums and heritage sites across Europe. After the introductory session we will focus on a different region every lesson, highlighting famous / unusual / key institutions and sites of each country. Each session will include a participatory activity. Students are encouraged to share their own experience with each country, to promote peer learning and cultural diversity.

1. History of the museum phenomenon, museum typologies, cultural heritage
2. British Isles
3. Pyrenean peninsula and Italy
4. France and Benelux
5. German speaking countries
6. Nordic countries
7. Central Europe
8. Balkan
9. Baltic states, Ukraine, Belarus
10. Russia

- student presentations begin in the second half of the semester, 2-4 per session

Academic year: 2025/2026
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Course ID: FiF.KAPVH/A- moAMD-002/21	Course title: Historical Inscriptions and Epigraphy
Educational activities: Type of activities: lecture / seminar Number of hours: per week: 1 / 1 per level/semester: 14 / 14 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester: 2.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Seminar work (description of two epigraphic inscriptions up to 1800 in the range of approx. 2 normpages for each inscription) + final test (the student can choose instead of written test also an oral exam). The student is required to achieve at least 60 percent success in the individual components of the evaluation in order to successfully complete the course. Violation of academic ethics results in the cancellation of the obtained points in the relevant evaluation item Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 30/70
Learning outcomes: Students will get acquainted with the origin of writing, ancient, medieval and early modern inscriptions (texts on other materials such as papyrus, parchment and paper). They will be able to read and critically evaluate them (evaluate their authenticity and specify their date and geographic origin according to the script). They will get acquainted with the typology of inscriptions according to content, location and carriers. They get to know the development of individual main types of epigraphic carriers (sepulchral, bells and baptismal fonts, wall and altar painting, smaller objects of everyday life, graffiti, etc.). They will gain basic knowledge of epigraphy - a professional discipline dealing with historical inscriptions. They will learn epigraphic terminology, nomenclature and methodology of professional description of historical inscriptions. Thanks to their own research, they will be also practically involved in epigraphic work. Learning outcomes: Students get acquainted with older and current trends used when researching religiosity and its tasks in premodern society. Historians traditionally focus on the history of the Church in its institutional, political, and theological aspects. This course, however, teaches students to apply these common approaches to other related aspects of social and cultural history and historical anthropology. Therefore, they will be able to perceive the different forms and aspects of the religious life of society, while gaining an overview of the sources they can work with when dealing with religiosity as defined.
Class syllabus:

- 1) introduction into the subject. The concept of religiosity.
- 2) Christianization, conversion
- 3) Ritual and personal religiousness
- 4) Female religiousness
- 5) Communication, preaching
- 6) Popular religiousness and culture, superstition, paganism
- 7) Reforms, reform movements, heresies.
- 8) The written, printed and heard word - the “communication revolution,” the print, public controversy
- 9) Language and religiosity
- 10) Religiousness in public space.
- 11) Marriage, family.
- 12) Sin, repentance and forgiveness.

STATE EXAM DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2025/2026
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Course ID: FiF.KAM/A-moAM-901/21	Course title: Master's Degree Thesis Defence
Number of credits: 15
Educational level: II.
Course requirements: Submission of the master thesis by the deadline specified in the timetable of the current academic year for the respective date of the state examination. The thesis is submitted in a printed version in one bound copy to the relevant department and in an electronic version via AIS. The thesis must meet the parameters specified by Internal Regulation No. 12/2013 Directive of the Rector of Comenius University on the basic requirements of final theses, rigorous theses and habilitation theses, control of their originality, storage and accessibility at Comenius University in Bratislava. The provisions of Article 14 of Internal Regulation no. 5/2020 (Study Regulations of the Faculty of Arts of Comenius University) apply to the evaluation of the master's thesis. The supervisor of the final thesis and its opponent will prepare evaluations of the master's thesis and propose a grade in the A-FX grading scale, which the student receives a minimum of three working days before the defence. Grading scale: 0-59% -FX, 60-67% -E, 68-75% -D, 76-83% -C, 84-91% -B, 92-100% -A Learning outcomes: The student has mastered the basic requirements of writing a scientific text in compliance with the rules of academic ethics. The student knows the methods used in the field of study, is able to work on the chosen topic of the master's thesis at the level of scientific study, with a representative selection of scientific literature, with appropriately chosen scientific procedures and hypotheses that can be verified. After a successful defence of the master's thesis, the student is able to design, implement, critically reflect, and justify his research intention. The student understands the context of the problem, can clearly define research conclusions, state his positions, and make recommendations. He can respond argumentatively and flexibly to questions about the research topic, its methodology, and its conclusions.
Class syllabus: 1. The contribution of the master's thesis, the fulfilment of the objectives of the thesis in its assignment, and the requirements for the content of the master's thesis given by the internal quality system of Comenius University. It is assessed whether the student has worked on the chosen topic at the level of scientific study, with a representative selection of scientific literature, with appropriately chosen scientific procedures and hypotheses that can be verified. Demonstration of the ability to work creatively in the study program is evaluated and the degree of demonstration of knowledge and understanding of the diploma thesis is reflected. 2. Originality of the work (master's thesis must not be plagiarized, must not infringe the copyrights of other authors); the documentation for the defence of the master's thesis also includes protocols of originality from the CRZP and Theses systems, to the results of which the thesis supervisor and the opponent express their opinions in their evaluations.

3. Correctness and accuracy of citation of used information sources, research results of other authors and group authors, correctness of the description of methods and working procedures of other authors or group authors. 4. Compliance of the structure of the master's thesis with the prescribed composition defined by the internal quality system of Comenius University. 5. Respecting the recommended length of the master's thesis (the recommended length of the master's thesis is usually 50 – 70 standard pages = 90,000 to 126,000 characters, including spaces), the adequacy of the length of the thesis is assessed by the thesis supervisor. 6. Linguistic and stylistic level of work and formal adjustments. The student orally presents the content, achieved goals, and conclusions of the master's thesis, and answers the questions and comments of the thesis supervisor, opponent, or members of the examination committee. The committee will comprehensively evaluate the quality of the master's thesis, assess the method and form of defence, and the student's ability to adequately respond to comments and questions from the evaluations of the thesis supervisor and the opponent. The student receives their final grade based on the average of the assessment of the thesis supervisor and opponent from their evaluations, and the assessment of the examination committee. Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 0/100

Academic year: 2025/2026
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Course ID: FiF.KAPVH/A- moAMD-001/21	Course title: Medieval book manuscripts and codicology
Educational activities: Type of activities: lecture / seminar Number of hours: per week: 1 / 1 per level/semester: 14 / 14 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester: 2.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Seminar work (description of two fragments of the manuscript-fragments in the range of about 1-2 normpages each) + final exam (student can choose the written test or oral form). Student is required to achieve at least 60 percent success in the individual components of the evaluation in order to successfully complete the course. Violation of academic ethics results in the cancellation of the obtained points in the relevant evaluation item. Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): 30/70
Learning outcomes: The course provides the students with information about the material conditions of the development of book culture (writing materials, tools, inks). It offers an introduction to the history of handmade books before the invention of bookpress as part of written culture (the transition from epigraphic monuments to paleographic, from ancient scrolls to codex form). The graduate will get acquainted with the functioning of scripts and the creation of codices. They will learn to analyze book-manuscripts or their fragments in a scientific way. In addition, he/she will gain an overview of the content distribution of medieval manuscripts as well as the main features of the development of book culture (i.e. scriptoria and libraries) before the book printing (approx. 1500) in today's Slovakia and the wider region of medieval Hungary.
Class syllabus: - Introduction - written culture and origin of book texts - Material conditions for the development of book culture (materials, tools, inks). - Codicology (subject, goals and history of the science) - Codicological terminology and description methodology - "Archeology of the Medieval Book" - Categories of medieval manuscripts by content - Book culture centers in Slovakia (main scriptoria and libraries). - Practicum: codicological description of fragments of manuscripts - Excursion to a professional centre

Academic year: 2025/2026
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Course ID: FiF.KAM/A-boAMD-503/24	Course title: Municipal and City Chronicles
Educational activities: Type of activities: seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 4
Recommended semester: 2., 4.
Educational level: I., II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: Seminar paper based on research during the semester (min. 3 pages, references to sources, citation) Active participation in lectures (max. 2 absences) - maximum two unexcused absences are tolerated Violation of academic ethics will result in the cancellation of the points earned in the respective item grade.
Learning outcomes: The subject provides an insight into the basic information about the European and worldwide unique phenomenon of chronicling, including its more specific historical development (starting with the period of the first Czechoslovak Republic). Students will become familiar with the variety of documentation work and the collection of information that precedes the creation of chronicles itself, leading to a simultaneous and at the same time objective presentation of a picture of the present in the form of historical records with an emphasis on narrative and informational value. On the basis of guided and self-selection of a municipality or micro-region, they will witness practice in the past and present through their own polls.
Class syllabus: Seminar 1 – Introduction to chronicling and creation of memorial books Definition of basic terms (chronicle, memorial book, register). Specification and characteristics of individual known types of chronicles (municipal, church, school and institutional, association and company, family, etc.). Principles of chronicle work. Retrospective and simultaneous processing of the chronicle. Difference between chronicler and recorder. Joint discussion and starting points for further study of this issue. Seminar 2 – An insight into the history of chronicling in Slovakia A short excursion into the modern history of Slovak chronicling - from 1918 (of course, in the Czechoslovak context); development of chroniclers' methodology, competitions and exhibition activities, work with chroniclers in the regions; creation and availability of authoritative chronicle literature; chroniclers and archives/museums. Seminar 3 – Practise 1 (assignment of research work in a specific locality, or micro-region - in the case of each student, processing of the basic geographical and cultural-historical characteristics of the selected settlement or territory, identification of relevant factors for further research - catchment memory institutions, availability of literature, or regional bibliography, etc.)

Seminar 4 – Institutional framework of chronicling

The emergence of the tendency of education and methodical coordination of chroniclers. Responsible institutions, cooperating institutions and their competences (in the period of the first Czechoslovak Republic; in the period of the Slovak State; in the period of socialism; in the period after the Velvet Revolution). Current institutional needs of the phenomenon of chronicling.

Seminar 5 – Activity and action of the chronicler

The variety and wide variety of chronicling activity, which is necessary for the processing of high-quality chronicling entries/records; ways of keeping a chronicle; the variety of chapters of the chronicle entry/record; chronicler's dilemmas; the chronicler's hidden tasks; potential activities in villages and towns in which the chronicler can (or should) be involved. Protection of the chronicler's record in terms of copyright law (author's work vs. employee's work).

Seminar 6 – Practise 2

(consultation on ongoing research, potential methodological direction to achieve the set research goals)

Seminar 7 – The personality of the chronicler

The personality of the chronicler; expected character traits and character traits, the so-called "soft factors"; demands on the municipality/entity for which the chronicle is created - material and technical, but also the personal coverage of the chronicler as a creative person; access to information - chronicler's card; chronicler position in public administration (municipality); the required details of his contact with the statutory officials of the local government/entity + contact with citizens or information providers + contact with institutions and external entities.

Seminar 8 – Forms and methods of chronicle work

Different types of creation and recording of chronicle entries (handwritten, typewritten, electronically designed and printed). The issue of electronic chronicles. Access to the demanding reverse processing of chronicle records. Chronicles as a way of supporting the development of local identity. Conception of chronicles in the interest of their wider practical use (further running of self-government, data storage, potential processing of monographs).

Seminar 9 – Practise 3

(pre-final consultations and mutual discussion, identification of basic empirical vicissitudes from the course of the research, determination of the ethical and moral framework of the research and its parameters based on already acquired experience)

Seminar 10 – Chronicles and chroniclers in the electronic age

Possibilities of education and professional growth of chroniclers. The use of information technology in chronicling work. Former and current chronicle periodicals. National Slovak Chronicle competition. Communication platform Spájame kronikárov Slovenska. Information about the ongoing nationwide survey and research of local chroniclers (CPaVLK).

Seminar 11 – Chronicles in archival and museum practice

Care of chronicles and memorial books - necessary requirements, expected approach to their administration and management. Good and bad examples of practice from the environment of Slovak municipalities. The state of documentation of chronicles and memorial books as an important part of the collection funds of state archives. The issue of digitization of chronicles and materials of a chronicle nature.

Seminar 12 – Practise 4

(joint colloquium at which individual students present their semester-long research on chronicles, or even memorial books in the designated or chosen research area)

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Academic year: 2025/2026
University: Comenius University Bratislava
Faculty: Faculty of Arts
Course ID: FiF.KSD/A-moHI-495/18	Course title: SC: Feudal Manor as the Landowners' Economic Enterprise
Educational activities: Type of activities: seminar Number of hours: per week: 2 per level/semester: 28 Form of the course: on-site learning
Number of credits: 3
Recommended semester: 2.
Educational level: II.
Prerequisites:
Course requirements: The students' results are evaluated exclusively by continuously checking their performance during the teaching part of the semester. During the first two teaching weeks, students choose a research area – a specific feudal lordship located in the Kingdom of Hungary. In the following weeks, students research this area on their own and present their results at the beginning of the lesson, following the teacher's explanation. Students present their results verbally (without any written support). To successfully complete the course, students need to work systematically, regularly informing the teacher about the progress they have achieved in their research. The deadline of their tasks cannot be postponed as they are connected to specifically scheduled lessons. Likewise, the teacher may not consider every research report by the student to be satisfactorily completed. To successfully meet their tasks, students need to successfully complete at least 6 out of 10 assignments. They are evaluated in the credit week according to the following scale: 10 adequately completed tasks adequately completed tasks A, 9 adequately completed tasks B, 8 adequately completed tasks C, 7 adequately completed tasks D, 6 adequately completed tasks E, 5 and less adequately completed tasks. To successfully meet their term tasks, students can have no more than 2 absences. Grading scale: A = 100% – 92% B = 91% – 84% C = 83% – 76% D = 75% – 68% E = 67% – 60% Fx = 59% – 0% Violation of academic ethics will be punished, and the student will lose all the received points in the relevant assessment. Scale of assessment (preliminary/final): Scale of assessment preliminary/final: 100/0
Learning outcomes: As that the aim of the course is to make students familiar with economic and social history on the example of an economic entity—a feudal lordship—after successfully completing it, students are familiar not only with the necessary historical facts on the subject, but also with an overview of the different methodological approaches and concepts used in economic and social history (as a scientific discipline), namely with the so-called history of business, micro-history, etc. Based on their own research, students are also acquainted with a wide range of topics, which define the feudal lordship as a landlord's enterprise. Students understand issues of social disciplination, communication, prosopographic research, environmental issues, etc.

Class syllabus:

1. Definition of feudal lordship in space and time.
2. Contemporary Slovak historical science and its approach to the study of feudal lordships.
3. Possibilities of researching archival funds of feudal lordships in Slovak state archives.
4. Lordship administration, management issues.
5. Income / overhead management.
6. Economic production spheres (agriculture, mining, etc.).
7. How grange husbandry and the network of production facilities of feudal lords worked.
8. Who were the owners of the feudal lordships? The nobility and the entrepreneur elite in the Kingdom of Hungary.
9. The ruling lineage as entrepreneurs. Imperial Chamber estates.
10. Free royal towns as feudal lords.
11. The population of lordships, the mobility of the labor force, the fluctuation of serfs serving lords.
12. Clerks serving lordships.
